REGARDING THE TARIFF.

The Conferees Held a Four-Hour Session Saturday.

MANY AMENDMENTS AGREED TO

None of the Really Important Problems of the Bill, However, Have Been Solved—Many Have Been Considered.

SPIRIT OF CONCILIATION EVIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The conferees on the tariff bill held a four hour session to-day. The anxiety to reach a complete agreement as early as possible induced them to meet on Sunday, and to-night both the house and senate conferees appear satisfied with the progress that has been made. Several hundred of the minor amendments have been agreed upon, many of them mere changes of phraseology, and on a large majority of these the house conferees naturally have yielded.

None of the real important problems in the bill, however, have as yet been solved.

All of them have received more or less consideration and there has been a free exchange of opinions. The temper and disposition of the senate and house conferees on these important matters have in this way been ascertained. In several cases the conferees are very close to an agreement. Both sides, so one of the conferees said to-night, show a commendable spirit of conciliation and, while in several instances each side seems to be holding out strongly for its contention as to rates, he said there had not yet appeared on the horizon anything which portended such difficulty as would not in time be surmounted. There is the best of reason for believing that several of the main points of contention will be compromised. This is especially believed to be true of lumber, hides and wool, and possibly sugar, though on the latter, the house conferees are standing particulary firm for their schedule.

On the subject of reciprocity the drift of opinion seems to be in the direction of the senate substitute, but with a certain of the house provisions; that is, that the list of articles which can be used as a basis for reciprocity treaties will be broadened, but that the senate provision requiring the ratification of the treaties will be discarded. Several of the eminent lawyers in both branches of congress questioned the constitutionality of the power conferred upon the president by the senate reciprocity provision. The stamp tax on bonds and stocks provided for in one of the senate amendments has not yet been accepted. The revenue afforded by it furnishes a strong argument for its acceptance in view of widening its scope so as not only to include a tax on actual transfers but on all recorded sales. This necessity of revenue also furnishes a strong argument for the restoration of the house rates on imported tobacco.

It is impossible to estimate yet when a final agreement will be reached and, although various dates are given as to the length of time the bill will remain in conference, ranging from Tuesday to a week from to-morrow, one of the most influential of the conferees said to-night that all estimates were necessarily pure guess work. He said that the decisions on the matters of transcendent importance in the bill were so interdependent that an ultimate decision on one might involve a complete agreement on others and that this final agreement might come at any time after the rest of the matters of secondary importance were out of the way.

When the report is completed it will at one go to the house where it is not likely that more than one day will be allowed for debate. The anxiety to get the bill on the statue books and the great loss of revenue involved in each twenty-four hours delay, it is argued, justifies the republican managers in declining to give more than a single day for discussion.

Suggests Another Challenge.

LONDON, July 9.—Ths Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says: When British and American battle-ships exchange, salutes as the Medea and the Brooklyn did on July 4, many yachtsmen opine that the time has arrived that the good feeling displayed on the two sides of the Atlantic as applied to the arts of war might as well be manifested in respect to the pursuits of peace, particularly in the way of pleasure crafts racing for the laudable object of supremacy in marine sport.

"The fact, too that the Philadelphians are meeting English players in our great national game in most fair and pleasant rivalry, and that the oarsmen of the United States are being heartily welcomed to our rowing waters, should certainly testify that yachting could have been removed from the unenviable distinction of being the pastime with which is associated regretable straining of international courtesies. It might not be too much to hope that should Mr. C. D. Rose's new Aurora prove to be a good representative craft there may be a series of matches in the United States for the America's cup, the outcome of which will be to bring about a better understanding over a too long existing dispute."

Half a Million in a Sofa.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The examination of Herman Dohm, Fredick Mora, Mrs Betsy Chevin, and Louis Hausman, charged with aiding the counterfeiting of about $1,000,000 worth of Costa Rican bank notes, began before United States Commissioner Shields to-day,

Chief Hazen said he had never seen Hausman until a week ago, when he admitted having written a letter to Jose Campo, at San Jose, Costa Rica, at the dictation of Ricardo de Requisene. The letter was signed "Angel Puerto," and notified Campo that the famous sofa, containing nearly $500,000 worth of counterfeit bank notes, had been shipped to Port Limon, and requesting him to look out for its safe arrival.

Antonio Moreno, a clerk in the employ of the Costa Rican Consul, swore that Hausman obtained an invoice for a sofa February 27, to be shipped to Port Limon. The examination was then adjourned.

Swallowed a Needle.

Gladys Lyons, the little daughter of Mr. George W. Lyons, of Lock Haven, swallowed a needle on July 5th, which it was found impossible to remove. The child was shooting with a toy pistol and one of the caps becoming fast, the little girl took a needle to remove it, afterwards putting the needle in her mouth. In her delight at hearing the caps crack, the needle was orgotten until it slipped down her throat. For several days she suffered more or less from it but Saturday seemed to feel no further pain, and it is hoped it will cause her no future annoyance.—Lock Haven Express.

Dr. Guss in Luck.

Dr. Isaac Guss, of Philipsburg, received Saturday from the Silver Knight Publishing Co., of Washington, D. C., twenty-five shining silver dollars, the first prize in the recent Silver Knight-Watchman word contest which he was so fortunate to win from the phrase, "Silver Knight." The list sent in by the Dr. embraced 1,554 words. The second prize, $15, was won by William W. Burke, of Rockland, Mass., who had 1,445 words, and the third prize, $10, was won by Alexander H. Lungell, St. Clair, Mich., with a record of 1,118 words.—Philipsburg Journal.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Some Notes Concerning the Last Day of the Convention.

MANY SUBJECTS WERE DISCUSSED

The Speakers Talk on Subjects Which are Prominent in the Work Which All are Willing to Carry Out.

THERE WAS MUCH ENTHUSIASM

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 12.—Early this morning began the last day's work of the international Christian Endeavor convention. The topic at the prayer meeting was "Our Associate Members." The daily hour for Bible study was conducted by Professor Herbert L. Willet, of Chicago, his subject being "John—A Message of Light and Love." He said that the essence of sin is the denial of the life and work of Christ, and argued that love was the essential characteristic of God and of his children. Robert E. Pierce, of Philadelphia, spoke at the United Presbyterian church on "Children's Meetings and How to Make Them Interesting," illustrating his remarks on the blackboard.

The morning session of the convention proper was opened in the Mechanics pavilion by Rev. Mr. Rhodes, of St. Louis. After the usual praise services devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. H. Schudder, of Tacoma. Then the topic of the morning, "Christain Endeavor, a Missionary Force," was taken up. The first speaker was Amos R. Wells, of Boston, who spoke on "The Tenth Legion.

An address on "Foreign Missions" by Rev. J. C. R. Ewing, of Lahore, in which he declared that the teachers from India who have come as speakers to this country are not representatives of the Hindooism of to-day but persons who have absorbed the truths of the sermon on the mount. Rev. J. S. Davies, of New York, made an earnest plea for "systematic and proportionate giving to God."

The missionary roll of honor was then read and a number of visiting missionaries were introduced to the delegates. An eloquent address by Rev. Nemehiah Boynton, of Detroit, on home missions was the last set speech of the morning. Then the committee of '97 was called to the platform by Secretary Baer, who presented through the Golden Gate union testament for its effective work. This was not on the programme and was a genuine surprise.

This morning's session at Woodward's pavilion was attended by an enthusiastic audience that half filled the auditorium. President Clark presided. The praise service was conducted by A. T. Sutherland and devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. H. Mosser, of Reading, Pa. The first speaker was Miss Lillian Meade, of Adelaide, South Australia, whose subject was "The World's Prayer Chain." The Rev. Charles Roads, D. D., of Chester, Pa., spoke of "City Evangelization Outside of the Churches." An address followed by the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., of Philadelphia, on "Deeping of the Spiritual Life Inside Our Churches."

Junior Sociable.

Thursday evening a very successful sociable was held in the Coleville chapel, by the Junior League, by which they cleared six dollars. Ice cream and cake were served for refreshments. The society is composed of little children, none over twelve years old.

Dancing Party at Hecla.

A party of over one hundred of our young people went down to Hecla Park on Tuesday afternoon on the 3:45 train. They took with them their supper and also a hurdy-gurdy, and in the evening had a very enjoyable time dancing, and the hours passed very pleasantly. Over half of the party was composed of visiting guests in our town. They danced at the park until twenty minutes after ten, when their enjoyment was brought to an end and they returned to Bellefonte, ready for another event of the kind at any time.

Hecla Park this year is certainly a beautiful place. The grounds are in excellent condition and the little island in the middle of the lower lake presents a beautiful sight, with blooming flowers to decorate it and rabbits running over it.

There is not a day goes by but the park is visited by a picnic party, and Tuesday's was one of the jolliest of the season.

An Old Veteran Gone.

Joseph Clark and old veteran of the late war died in Pittsburg Saturday from sunstroke and his remains were brought to Bellefonte for interment on the 1:35 train Monday.

He was a brother-in-law of Kirk Stonerode of Milesburg and resides in Snow Shoe for several years. He served with credit during the late war being a member of Co. G. 51st regiment, Penna. volnuteers.

The funeral took place in the afternoon. Interment in the Union cemetery. Deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows which order had charge of the funeral services,

The pall-beares were: Emil Joseph, J. C. Meyer, W. B. Rankin, W. T. Hillibish, R. A. Beck and H. B, Pontius. Rev. W. O, Wright of Milesburg conducted the services.

Joseph A. Clark was born in Karthaus, Clearfield county, July 28th 1832 and was therefore 64 years 11 month and 12 days old. He was married to Miss Martha Dixon of Bellefonte, who with their two children Lida and Teresa survive him.

Abuses on British Ships.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—Capt. Clipperton, the British Consul at this port, and Capt. Halley, of the steamship City of Dundee and Christie, of the ship Amazon, to-day concluded their inquiry into the charge made by sailors of the bark Rothiemay, from Sydney to Philadelphia. The sailors complained of a non-supply of good provisions, failure to provide lime juice, infringement of collision regulations, and the death through carelessness on Capt. Grant's part of Charles Whyte, a seaman.

The inquiry was strictly within British jurisdiction and lasted three days, during which considerable contradictory testimony was heard. The court found that poor beef had been supplied, and ordered that 3 pence should be paid each of the sailors for each of the fifty-five days from Sydney. The Captain was fined $50 for not supplying lime juice, and $50 additional for failing to put up side lights was exacted from the Captain and Chief Officer Hansom, while Second Mate Breen was fined $25. The charge that Whyte's death was due to carelessness was dismissed.

Club House Robbed.

Sometime during Tuesday night or early on Wednesday burglars broke into the Bellefonte Club House on High street. They gained an entrance from the rear of the house by prying open one of the windows. They then ransacked the whole house, broke open the money drawer in the cigar case and also went through a desk belonging to H. P. Harris in one of the upper rooms. They secured about $30.00 in money besides other articles of value. The robbery was not discovered until about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Jumped the Track.

About 12:30 on Wednesday the local freight engine on the Bald Eagle valley road ran of the track near McCalmont's lime kilns. Word was telegraphed to Tyrone for the work train, but it was several hours before they succeeded in getting the freight engine back on the track again. In the meantime the Lewisburg train was sent down to the scene of the accident and the passengers and baggage that arrived on the 1:05 and 1:35 trains were transfered to it and brought to Bellefonte.

THE LEHIGH VALLEY R. R.

Makes Some Changes in its President and Board of Directors.

PRESIDENT WILBUR RESIGNS

Several of the Directors Also Hand in Their Resignation Which Were Accepted.

ALFRED WALTER THE NEW PRESIDENT

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The rumors which have been current for some days in railroad and financial circles concerning a change in the officers and directors of the Lehigh Valley company culminated to-day in the resignations of E. P. Wilbur as president and William L. Conyngham, Charles O. Skeer and George H. Myers as directors being accepted. The resignations of the three directors were presented at a recent monthly meeting, but were not acted upon until to-day, while President Wilbur's was only presented at to-day's meeting. The vacancies were filled by the election of Alfred Walter as president and Edward T. Stotesbury, of this city, and C. H. Coster as directors. Mr. Wilbur was also elected a member of the board, to fill one of the three vacancies.

Ever since the deal was consummated with J. P. Morgan & Co., and Drexel & Co., in March last, whereby the banking firms secured a large voice in the management of the road, a number of changes were looked forward to. When the board met to day President Wilbur, annouced that it had long been his desire on account of other large interests to be relieved of active charge of Lehigh Valley affairs. He said further that the new interests in the property had expressed a strong desire that he remain in the board, and he then expressed his willingness to do so.

In accepting Mr. Wilbur's resignation the board adopted the following resolution:

"That the resignation of Mr. Wilbur be accepted, to take effect on and after July 13, 1897."

"And be it further resolved, That in accepting Mr. Wilbur's resignation as president, this board desires to put on record its high appreciation of Mr. Wilbur's long and devoted service to the interests of the company and of his able and conscientious discharge of the onerous which it has been neccessary to impose upon him, as also its pleasure at the prospect of a continuance of association with him as a director of the company."

Embodied in the same resolution was the acceptance of the resignations of Directors Conyngham, Skeer and Myers. The new president and directors were then elected.

Alfred Walter, the new president, was the former superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio, and was born in Brooklyn in 1851. His railroad experience dates from 1872, during which he rose from rodman on the Allegheny Valley railroad to geneneral manager of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad, from which he resigned in 1894. He is now the presidsnt of the Delaware, Susquehanna Schuykill railroad, a line of twenty-eight miles, running from Deringer to Drifton, Pa. It is operated for the purpose of carrying the coal production of the Coxe Brothers' estate, of which large coal tracts Mr. Walter has been manager since December, 1894.

Messrs. Stotebury and Coster, are both members of the banking houses of Drexel & Co., of this city, and J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York.

A Young Girl Commits Suicide at Philipsburg.

We are indebted to Monday's Philipsburg Journal for the following account of a suicide which occurred at that place Sunday night:

Miss Mertie Barto, the 17-year-old daughter of Samuel Barto, of North Philipsburg, committed suicide at the residence of George P. Files, of Eleventh street, Sunday night or early Monday morning. She had been living with Mr. Files only about one week. She came in from church about 9 o'clock, and upon entering the house asked what time it was. Mrs. Files told her, when the unfortunate young woman asked for a lead pencil. Mrs. F. told her she could get one out of the sideboard drawer. She procured the pencil and retired to her room.

There was a 2-ounce bottle nearly filled with laudanum in the pantry, and it is supposed when she went for the lead pencil she also secured the poison. She was not seen again until about 5 o'clock Monday morning, when Mr. Files went to her room, knocked at the door, but not receiving any reply to his summons went down stairs and told his wife to go up and call her, while he went out and got some kindling to make the fire in the cook stove.

Mrs. Files then went into the room where Mertie slept, when she soon saw that something terrible had happened. She called to her, then shook her, but could not awaken her from the then almost deadly sleep. She then looked at her face and discovered her eyes and lips to be blue and her face of a deadly pallor. Upon glancing over to the bureau she soon discovered the reason why the girl did not make any reply. She saw that a 2-ounce bottle, which the evening before had contained about an ounce and a half of laudanum, had been emptied, and that the poor girl had drank it to put herself out of the world. What time she had drank the deadly poison was not known.

As soon as Mr. and Mrs. Files had discovered what had happened to the young girl, Mr. F. hurriedly went after Drs. J. D. and Charles McGirk, but by the time they arrived she was beyond medical help, and after being unconscious all the time lingered until 9:15 o'clock Monday morning when she died.

She wrote a letter, addressed to her friends, giving the cause which led to the commission of the awful act. It is said that she had been keeping company with a cousin of hers, a young man named Walker, and on account of their close relationship her father objected to her going with him, and whether she had any other troubles or not we have not learned. She was removed to her home in North Philipsburg.

CUTTING AFFRAY AT SNOW SHOE.

A Hungarian and a Pole Settle an Old Grudge.

On Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock a quarrel took place at Holt's mines about three miles from the Beech Creek station, Snow Shoe, between a Hungarian and a Pole, which probably resulted in fatally injuring the Pole. There was an old grudge between the two men and when they met they at once began to quarrel, finally the Hungarian seized an ax which was lying near and struck the Polander several fierce blows about the head and back. His right ear was almost severed from his head and his throat was cut. There was also a cut in his back which reached into the backbone. His condition is indeed very serious. He was somewhat better Monday but word was received at the sheriff's office Tuesday morning that the man was dying.

The injured polander's name is Joseph Yokoboska and the name of his assailant is Steve Shedlock. Shedlock was arrested Sunday night by constable Chambers who brought him to Bellefonte and had him lodged in jail 4 o'clock Monday morning.

Rev. Dr. Jonathan Whitely's Widow

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS

But She Has Been Cured—Long May She Live and Long Live the Remedy to Which She Owes Her Life.

From the Gazette, Meadville, Pa.

The following interesting interviews concerning the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, have lately been received at the office of this newspaper.

The first embodies a conversation with Mrs. M. A. Whitely, the widow of the late Rev. Jonathan Whitely, D. D., an eminent divine of the Methodist denomination. Mrs. Whitely spoke as follows:

"I consider it my duty to tell for publication the immense benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Three years ago I was stricken by paralysis, and lay helpless for months. I was at last advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which after many misgivings I concluded to do, as I had lost faith in all medicines. The first box helped me much, and the continued use of the pills has worked and is working wonders. To-day I have driven twelve miles without fatigue. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they have done me a world of good."

Mr. John W. Beatty, who is a contractor and builder of Meadville, of the highest respectability, says:

"Although I have passed the meridian of life, I am glad to be able to say that I have but little or no use for medicine of any kind. But my wife is not so fortunate. During the last few years she has been a sufferer from dropsy and disease of the heart, and at times suffers greatly. A few months ago she began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and has been greatly benefited by their use. She experienced a numbness and coldness in her limbs and at times could scarcely walk by reason of poor circulation of the blood. All these unpleasant symptoms have disappeared and I confidently hope to see her a well woman ere long. I will also take the liberty to speak for a brother-in-law of mine, G. W. Myer, who resides at Shenkleyville, Mercer Co., Pa. So great was his affliction by reason of erysipelas in the face and a general breaking down of the system that last winter he was given up to die. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have made him a new man and he is as one rescued from the very jaws of death."

Mr. Prentice Fry, of Meadville, testifies as follows:

"My wife and daughter have been failing in health for some time and the treatments of physicians in their cases have been fruitless. So much has been said of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that I resolved to try them, and myself and family will always be glad that Providence threw such a medicine in our way. The pale faces and wasted cheeks of my wife and daughter have disappeared, and the ruddy glow of health has reappeared. Pen cannot record my feelings in the matter, and all I can say is that I trust all who are bowed down by the heavy hand of physical infirmity will learn that there is a remedy that cures and places suffering humanity where they can enjoy this earthly existence. God bless the maker of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Thrown Among Firecrackers.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 7.—Last evening a gang of boys on a vacant lot were winding up the celebration of the Fourth with a lot of firecrackers. Getting tired of the usual method, they procured a barrel, and after lighting a package of crackers and throwing them into the barrel, caught a small boy named Rosendorfer and threw him in. Then they put a dry-goods box on top of the barrel and two boys sat on it. While the crackers popped merrily in the barrel little Rosendorfer could be heard screaming. As soon as the last cracker popped the boys upset the barrel and ran.

Rosendorfer crawled out, half suffocated, with his clothing on fire in several places. He was very painfully burned about his feet and legs, but in less than half an hour was offering to go into the barrel again for a cigarette and two fish hooks.

Nearly 2,000 Issued.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8—The new alien tax law, signed by Governor Hastings two weeks ago, has resulted in an unusual number of applications by foreigners for first papers. Up until to-day over 1,800 first papers have been issued. The law requires that employers pay a tax of three cents each working day for each unnaturalized foreigner employed. Employers generally have determined to compensate themselves for this outlay by deducting the amount from the foreigners, wages. To this fact is attributed the hurry to become citizens. The exaction of the per diem tax is required until the final papers are taken.

THE CAN EXPLODED

And Threw Burning Oil Over Little Mary Marcella of Castanea.

Mary Marella, the 12-year old daughter of Neil Marcella, of Castanea, was burned Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock so badly that her death resulted at midnight. The little girl was the oldest child of Mr. Marcella, and since the death of her mother a few weeks ago, had been the housekeeper. The fire in the cook stove was slow, and she informed a neighbor woman who called at the house that she intended to cook beans for supper. When a short time afterwards she attempted to hurry the fire by pouring coal oil in the stove from a can, the oil ignited and the can exploded, throwing the burning oil all over the little girl.

The noise of the explosion and the girl's screams as she ran from the house enveloped in flames, was heard by Tony Chermanio, a blacksmith who was at work in his shop, and by the men at the Beech Creek railroad depot.

They ran to the girl's assistance and tore her burning clothing off as quickly as possible. The girl was literally burned all over, from head to foot and her suffering was intense.

Medical aid was summoned by telephone and soon arrived and did what was possible to do for the little sufferer. The men who saw the girl when she ran out of the house, and who removed her clothing, say the sight was a horrible one and hope never to see the like again.

The father of the unfortunate girl is frantic with grief, as this is the fourth death in his family within two years, his wife and three children having died in that time.—Lock Haven Express.

Water Can Hit Hard.

Landsmen who are slow to realize the tremendous force of the sea had an object lesson ashore in this city the other day when five large tanks, built to contain 120,000 pounds of soap, but temporarily filled with water, and situated on the fourth floor of a large building on West Fifty-second street, this city, collapsed and completely wrecked the whole structure. The tanks were each fifteen feet high and about thirteen feet diameter, and contained 161,703 pounds of water, but the floors and supporting beams proved altogether inadequate to stand the strain. A wave of the dimensions of one of these tanks is not at all unusual at sea, and when such a wave breaks on a vessel's deck the force of the blow can only be estimated by the amount of damage it does in spite of the elasticity of the water beneath the vessel to ease her in receiving the shock. When the city firemen state that a stream from a hose under fifty pounds pressure will cut through any ordinary brick wall, the force of the sea in a gale may be, perhaps, better imagined.—Marine Journal.

Sudden Death at a Fire.

At Williamsport, Friday morning, while Richard Dye, aged 65 years, was carrying his household goods out of his residence, which was in close proximity to the burning Shaw & Merrill mill, he dropped dead, having been overcome by the heat and worriment. With the burning of the large mill close by, the excitement incident to the removing of goods and the sudden death, the other members of his family were almost overcome. Friends assisted in helping the family, and their dwelling was saved. A wife, one son and two daughters survive the deceased.

BIKE-SKATE A WONDER.

Enables a Man to go Ten Miles an Hour Where He Likes.

An ingenious and practical machine is now manufactured, which is a combination of the bicycle and the roller skate. The skater carries on each foot something that is very much like a miniature bicycle.

A bicycle skate consists of a steel platform connected by a system of forks, with two wheels about six inches in diameter, one in front of the foot and the other behind. The foot of the skater is about two inches from the ground. The wheels being at the extremities of the platform the base on which the two feet rests is very long, and the point of support is made as strong as possible.

The wheels are fitted with ball bearings and tires of hollow rubber. Pneumatic tires have been discarded as not strong enough.

The bicycle skates were invented in England and have already been used extensively in that country and in France. A proficient rider can easily travel from ten to fifteen miles an hour.

It is claimed for the skates that they give the riders the advantages of bicycle riding and walking at the same time. With them a man can go as fast as he would on a bicycle when riding for pleasure. When he comes to a place where a bicycle could not go he can take off his skates and carry them with him. Thus he may climb a mountain, get over a fence or walk in a wood without inconvenience when out with his skates.—New York Journal.

A Sparrow's Ride in a Fly Wheel.

Birds have all sorts of queer adventures, but perhaps what was the oddest one of recent days is that which befell a sparrow at Anderson, Ind. It flew into a knife and bar manufactory, and, getting too near a small wheel, was sucked in. The workmen noticed it go into the wheel, but knowing that the cylinder was revolving at a speed of 130 revolutions a minute, took it for granted that the bird had been killed. When the factory shut down at noon the men were astonished to hear a gentle chirp from the wheel, and lo, there was the sparrow as well as ever. They found that the bird had clung to the strengthening rod of the wheel and was in a semi-dazed condition. They picked him up and put him on a table, and thence, after collecting his wits, the little bird flew to freedom. The wheel in which the bird rode made 31,000 revolutions while it was upon it, and so the tiny feathered creature travelled seventy-three and eight-tenths miles in the embrace of a fly wheel.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Valuable Invention.

An inventor recently went to the British War Office with an explosive that he said would destroy any army against which it was directed. "It is the most powerful explosive the world ever saw," said the visitor, "and I propose to send up a balloon over an army that would attack ours, setting the fuse so that it might go off the moment the balloon floated over the army of the enemy." "That is all very good, indeed," said the Secretary of War, interrupting; "but suppose that a current of air should carry your explosive over our army—what then?" "Well," said the inventor, laying his hand on the right honorable gentleman's arm, "I tell you what it is, my friend—our army would have to get up and run like the very dickens."—New York Tribune.

Banana Leaves.

Banana-leaves serve many purposes, for of them are made tough paper, from the thinnest tissue to thickest cardboard, clothing, hats and brushes, mats and hammocks. Millions of pounds of banana fibre, misnamed Manila "hemp," are each year brought to the United States or taken to Europe, and spun into cordage from the fineness of silk up through the size of twine to the bigness of mammoth cables; and many a dainty handkerchief and bit of fine lace has been woven from the fibres of banana-leaves by the deft fingers of the women of South America and of the far East.

One Way to Grow Rich.

A very rich Frenchman called "Pere" Chapalier made his fortune by utilizing the stale bread of Paris, not only that which came directly from households but also that found among the garbage of the city. Chapalier was a manufacturer of bread crumbs. He pulverized the stale bread collected by a multitude of agents, and either sold the crumbs to restaurants for kitchen use or remoulded and baked them in the form of loaves for the poor.—New York Sun.

The Commercial Instinct.

Mr. Umpstein came home with his eye blacked, his nose swollen, and a few other injuries were scattered about his countenance.

"Been helt up," he explained to his wife. "He was four dimes as big as me, but I made him fight."

"Vy didn't you gif up, Izzy?" asked his wife.

What Became of Her.

What became of that Samuels girl that Pottersby was flirting with last summer?"

"You mean the girl that Pottersby thought he was flirting with? She married him."

Not Yet.

Old Resident.—"Yes, sir, I'm eighty years old, and I walked thirty miles t'other day. Could you do that?"

Average Man.—"No-o, not yet; I'm only forty."

LABOR-SAVING JUSTICE.

Mexicans Have a Method, Short and Effective, for Avoiding a Trial.

"The administration of justice in Mexico has certain phases which might startle those who are accustomed to the law's delays in this country," remarked a Chicagoan the other day who has spent the last three years in the sister republic.

"There is no unnecessary delay at any stage of the game. If there is no doubt about the prisoner's guilt technicalities were never alowed to interfere with his prompt punishment. And very often the Mexican authorities manage to save the expense of a trial. Whenever a notorious desperado, for instance, is captured he is turned over to a couple of rurals to be transferred to another jail at some little distance. On the way the prisoner always tries to escape—at least, that is the report made by the guards.

"It is unnecessary to add that no prisoner ever did escape under such circumstances or that no prisoner ever could do so. The guards simply report that their man tried to give them the slip and that they felt compelled to riddle him with bullets to prevent his escape. This dispenses with a trial and a legal execution. No investigation ever is made; it is strictly legal in Mexico to shoot down an 'escaping prisoner.' It is a labor-saving device, that's all, but it is as effective and as expeditious as it is economical."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A SEPTUAGENARIAN STUDENT.

A Rare Instance of Perseverance and Determination.

At Warsaw a student has just graduated at the ripe age of seventy-five! After passing his matriculation many years ago, lack of funds prevented him from at once proceeding to the university, and he was compelled to work as a tutor twenty years in order to save enough money to enable him to continue his studies. At the end of that time he presented himself at Warsaw Medical Academy, and passed the entrance examination with distinction. Before he could begin his studies, the Polish rebellion of 1863 broke out, and Borysik, who was forty-one years of age, threw himself into the movement with all the enthusiasm of a youthful revolutionist. The revolt was suppressed, and Borysik was exiled to Siberia, where for thirty-two years he underwent hard labor in the silver mines. In 1895 he received a free pardon, and returned to Warsaw. In spite of his age and the hardships he had endured, Borysik lost none of his enthusiasm for medical work, and took up his studies where he had left off in 1863. After a two years' course this remarkable man has now, at the age of seventy-five, pased the final medical examination with honors, and will begin to practice in Warsaw.—London Daily Mail.

HAM-EATING IN PARIS.

The Bones Used with Fork Cut Into Shape to Imitate the Genuine Article.

Parisians of a certain class are inordinate eaters of ham; in fact, almost as many hams are eaten in Paris as could be furnished by all the pigs killed throughout the whole of France, even allowing for both shoulder and leg being ham-cured in accordance with French practice. The demand was formerly—and may be now—met in this wise. The dealers in cooked hams bought up the old ham-bones at a couple of sous a-piece, and ingeniously inserted them in pieces of pickled pork, which they trimmed into shape, and coated with grated bread-crusts. In this way many bones did duty hundreds of times over, lasting, in fact, for years. They would leave the dealers in the morning and frequently return to them the same night, to quit them again the following day. Nevertheless the supply could hardly keep pace with the demand. Only fancy the inconvenience of having to wait for your ham until your neighbor's servant took back the ham-bone which the charcutier relied upon receiving yesterday! It was to obviate such a state of things that an ingenious individual conceived the idea of manufacturing ham-bones wholesale, and ere long he drove a thriving trade, at ten sous the dozen; since which time the stock of hams has augmented, and the delicacy has become less difficult to procure.

Not Particular.

"I suppose," she said acridly, "that you would turn up your nose at cold victuals."

"No, ma'am," replied Meandering Mike. "You'd be surprised to see how good-natured I'd take it if you was to offer me a Roman punch or champagne frappé."—Washington Star.

The Trouble.

"Who ever brought you up, Walter?" demanded his aunt, after some small bit of rudeness on his part.

"Never was brought up," said Walter. "I've been taken down all my life."

Hard on Him.

"I stood there in the silent night," said Willie Wishington, "wrapped in thought."

"Dear me!" murmured Miss Cayenne. "How chilly you must have been!"

The Christian Endeavorers.

About 6,000 delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention arrived at San Francisco Tuesday, and 600 car loads were on the way between Ogden and San Francisco. The local committee made elaborate preparations for the reception of the visitors.

Among the Endeavorers who have come across the sea to attend the convention is Miss E. J. Newton, of Foo Chow, the representative of the Endeavor societies in China. With her is Miss Carme Hostetter, who has come all the way from Tokio to be in attendance at the convention. Miss Newton has brought with her a silken banner to be presented to the Christian Endeavor society that donated the largest sum of money to the Foreign Missions. It is the gift of Foo Chow Christian Endeavor Union, whose greetings to the society were forwarded to General Secretary Baer by the secretary, Ling Muk, before they decided to send a delegation.

One of the most interesting features at the Mechanics' Pavilion will be the reproduction of an early California mission, which will constitute the headquarters of the Missionary Extension society, under the direction of Miss M. L. Berry, State Superintendent of Missions for the Christian Endeavor Union. The entrance to this international exhibit will be so fashioned as to represent exactly one of the oldest missions in the State. In the tower, which rises at the northwest corner of this structure, will be hung a bell taken from an old mission, which has been for some time past reposing in silence in the Park museum. The bell is the property of Mrs. Wm. Garrett, and is loaned for the occasion. Five minutes before each session of the convention opens this bell will ring, as it did a hundred years ago, to call the faithful to service.

As to Arbitration.

HARRISBURG, July 9.—Governor Hastings received a telegram this afternoon from Joseph Bishop, secretary of the Ohio state board of arbitration, and L. P. McCormick, labor commissioner of Indiana, asking him to co-operate with the arbitration boards of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, at a meeting to be held at Pittsburg to endeavor to adjust the miners' strike. A similar telegram was also received from Governor Mount, of Indiana. Governor Hastings replied to both declining to act because he has received no request from either the miners or the mine operators of Pennsylvania.

Science vs. the Rabbits.

While Dr. Koch has been endeavoring to isolate the microbe which has destroyed the cattle of a continent, it is interesting to observe the fact that the people of Australia have gone seriously into the business of cultivating a deadly bacillus with a view of saving their continent from the devastations wrought by millions upon millions of rabbits. The war against the rabbits has been going on for a number of years. The government of New South Wales has, within the past seven years, expended considerably more than $4,000,000 in attempts to exterminate the rabbit pest. This sum, of course, makes no account of the amount expended by private citizens and land owners, and it is a trifling sum as compared with the losses that the rabbits have inflicted. The minister of public lands for New South Wales says that since 1890 the government has spent $250,000 in building a little less than 1,000 miles of rabbit-proof fencing, a sort of "trocha," as our Spanish friends would say, against the insurgent rabbits. But the rabbits increase and multiply, and the problem is far from solved. A conference of delegates from all parts of New South Wales has lately been held in Sydney for further consideration of this obstacle to the colony's prosperity. It is in the colony of Queensland that the experiment of enlisting the microbe has been entered upon. It is the bacillus of chicken cholera, as isolated by Pozner, that they are cultivating in Queensland, and scattering over the country where the rabbits prevail, "concealed in pellets of pollard." It would not appear as yet that any great measure of success has attended this scheme. Dr. Koch, fresh from his scientific triumphs in Africa, should now be sent by the British government to aid in the extermination of the Australian rabbits.

Hawaiian Hopes Disappointed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The steamer City of Peking, which has just arrived from Hawaii, was detained a day at Honolulu in the hope that the Hawaiians might receive news from Washington of the ratification of the annexation treaty and send their greetings to this country. The Japanese "Times" of a recent date expressed regret that the treaty had been made without consulting Japan, which is "vitally interested" in the Hawaiian islands.

This the Hawaiian "Star" considers as "arrogance with vengeance," and says: "We have employed Japanese as laborers, but that does not give Japan any 'vital interest' in the islands. This is a country of Anglo-Saxon civilization, not of Asiatic. Its laws, its religion, its tone of thought, are Anglo-Saxon. Its affinities are with the United States, and one fails to see what 'vital interests' Japan has here."

16 Dead in Chicago.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 9.—Of all the hot days that have made life a burden since the warm weather of 1897 began, this was the worst. There were more deaths of human beings and of animals and the number of praostrations was greater then upon any other day of the long hot spell that has hung over Chicago. Sixteen people are dead from the heat, two are insane and out of a large number of prostrations, ten cases are critical.

THAT MINERS' STRIKE.

The Outlook Among the Diggers in Various Sections.

THE SITUATION AT PITTSBURG

Co-Operation Among the Miners is the Thing Most Necessary Now in Order to Make the Combat Effective.

WHAT SOME OPERATORS SAY

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Forty-eight hours after the inauguration of the great coal miners strike a comparison of statements from both sides engaged in the contest show favorable results for the diggers. Discounting the miners' official announcements by the operators opinions, there seems to be no question that the workmen have scored a decided advantage in this district, and it is believed that as the Pittsburg district goes, so goes the country.

Conservative estimates place the number of miners now striking in this district from 16,000 to 18,000 men, an increase of about 5,000 over yesterday's record. This leaves from 3,000 to 5,000 men still working.

The key to the entire situation, from present appearances, lies in the success or defeat of the strikers in securing the co-operation of the and Cleaveland Gas Coal company. Without these men the strike can hardly succeed, because they will be able in a measure to supply the demand long enough to tide over the present embarrassment.

Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburg district miners, is confident that before the present week closes he will have succeeded in getting all of these men to join the ranks of the strikers and when this is effected the battle will be practically won.

The operators are just as confident of of success as the miners are and to-night issued a statement claiming a large accession of men in different parts af the district and a heavier shipping list than usual. One thing which is slightly in favor of the operators is the freeing of navigation on the Mongahela river which went into effect to-day. Ten million bushers of coal which have been stocked in the pools above here awaiting this event, will be brought to this harbor and be available for the present demand.

When the miners headquarters were visited this evening the officials were in a high glee over the result accomplished to-day. The best news received was that the men working under contract at the Pan Handle mines of M. A. Hanna & Co. had quit work.

Leading operators in the district admit that the miners have succeeded in getting more men to strike than they expected, but say they are not worrying over the outlook and that the strike will not last a week. None of them are pressed for coal and have offers from operators whose miners have not joined in the movement to help them out.

Some Facts About the Young Men's Christian Association.

1. It is a Bellefonte institution, working constantly for Bellefonte's present and future prosperity, through her young men.

2. It is the most practical, economical and permanent institution that has been devised for the development of the right sort of young manhood in our American cities and towns.

3. It is the only institution which offers social, physical, educational and spiritual advantages to young men on terms and conditions which suit men of every creed and of all conditions.

4. It satisfies the desire for companionship and harmless amusement, which is instinctive in a healthy boy or young man, and is a substitute for the club life, which often ruins men, both body and soul.

5. It has demonstrated its ability to keep young men from going wrong, which is vastly better than allowing them first to wreck their lives, and then to seek their salvation.

6. It is a cuccess, because the young men have set the seal of their approval on it by frequenting its rooms and showing their enthusiastic loyalty in many ways.

7. It gives the business man a chance to help his employes by contributing to its support, and enabling it to place at their disposal many valuable privileges at a nominal fee.

8. It provides sociability without dissipation, athletic training without the sporting features, and spiritual training without cant.

9. It is a down town branch of the Christian home, the Christian Sunday school, the Christian church, and of every healthful, wholesome agency or institution for making young men strong, intelligent and pure.

10. It is a counter attraction to the saloon, and is thus one of the most effective temperance agencies of the land.

No Strike at Snow Shoe.

Reports from the Snow Shoe region of the Clearfield bituminous coal district are in effect that the miners there will take no regard of the call to go out on a strike at this time. The men held a meeting Monday and many of them are at work as usual, During the past year, and especially this summer, work has been better in this region than it has been at any time in the past fifteen years. The output runs into thousands of tons weekly, and the operators have all the orders they can handle, more than they can get cars to fill. Over two thousand miners find steady employment, about double the number worked last summer, and the rate of 35 and 40 cents prevails at most of the mines. The Lehigh Valley, the largest operator in the region, work from twelve to fifteen hundred men alone, while the Berwind-White company, the Kelley Bros. and the Snow Shoe Mining company are running night and day. Taking it all in all times have not been so good in the Snow Shoe region since the first days of mining as they are now. The men are contented and happy, and deem that it would be extremely foolish to go out on a strike at this time. There is, however, no little disaffection in some of the western parts of the Clearfield district, where work has not been so good, and there may be some uprising there, but it is not believed the trouble will grow to any great extent, or cause a general strike or suspension.

Boys and Girls Play "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Last week a lot of boys and girls in Clay Centre organized an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe and gave performances in a large tent pitched on the lawn in front of one of the fashionable residences of the town. Every feature of the average "Uncle Tom" show was given, even to the street parade with the blood hounds and donkey. Three hundred and fifty people were present at the first performance, and the youngsters took in $24 at the box office. The play was very cleverly given, and was all the more interesting because there was not a grown person connected with it in any manner.—Kansas City Journal.

Great Destruction by the Floods.

Paris, July 6.—Advices from the south of France show that the destruction by the floods there was greater, even than earlier reports indicated. The losses are estimated at 200,000,000 francs in the aggregate. Hardly a village has escaped damage and the number of persons drowned is quite 300.

SMITH—GOODFELLOW.

A Very Pretty Wedding Which Took Place Wednesday at Unionville.

Wednesday at 6:00 p. m. Miss Bella May Goodfellow, of Unionville, and Mr. William P. Smith, of Bellefonte, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the home of the bride's parents in the former place.

The interior of the house was beautifully decorated with ferns and daisies and looked very inviting. The wedding was a private one, only the immediate members of the families being present, with the exception of Miss Jennie Irwin, of Bellefonte, and Miss Minnie Sensor, of Unionville, two very close friends of the bride.

The wedding took place promptly at the hour appointed, the bride and groom standing under an arch of roses and ferns. The bride was dressed in white swiss, trimmed with ribbons and lace, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses. The groom was dressed in conventional black. Miss Della Goodfellow, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in white silk mull and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses Mr. Christy Smith, a brother of the groom, acted as best man and was attired the same as the groom, in black.

Rev. P. L. Jones, of Bellefonte, said the solemn words which united the happy couple for life, using the ring ceremony.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents from her many friends and acquaintances. After enjoying a splendid wedding dinner, served in several courses, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, accompanied by a number of friends, drove to Bellefonte, where their home on Logan street, already furnished to go into, awaited them.

The REPUBLICAN joins with their friends in wishing the young couple much happiness and prosperity.

The Final Vote Near.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The final vote on the tariff bill will be taken in the senate before adjournment to-morrow, a definite agreement, assented to by all parties, having been reached at the close of debate to-day. The agreement is as follows: "That debate on the tariff bill shall proceed under the five minute rule after 1 p. m. to-morrow, and that the final vote on the bill shall be taken before adjournment to-morrow.

Mr. Allison did not ask that the hour for the vote be set, being content with the positive agreement that it should be some time to-morrow. The limitation of speeches after 1 p m. to five minutes will bring the debate within narrow limits.

The announcement by the vice president that the agreement was perfected led to a general exchange of congratulations among senators.

During the day the anti-trust question was debated at length and Mr. Pettus's amendment on the subject was defeated, 33 to 36. Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, again offered the amendment for a quarter cent bounty on beet sugar. It led to lively and somewhat personal speeches from the two Nebraska senators, after which the Allen amendment was tabled, 57 to 9, the populists and silver republicans being the only ones recorded against the motion to table.

Will Be Buried To-Day.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The body of Father Hewitt, superior of the Paulist Fathers, robed in vestments used in celebrating mass, lay in state last night in the church of St. Paul. The remains were viewed last evening by fully 3,000 persons. Later on vespers for the dead were chanted by the fathers and a choir of 100 men and boys.

The body of the dead prelate remained in state until this forenoon when a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Bishop Tierney, of Hartford, Conn. At the close of the services Father Hewitt's body will be placed in a vault under the southeastern tower of the church.

Big Fire at Williamsport.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 9.—The Crouse wood mill was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. Loss, $40,000.

Charlie Dale, Warriorsmark.

From the busy ranks of life we ever and anon see the forms of loved ones silently and mysteriously disappear. And now a blossom, scarcely budded, has been called home by the Great King.

Thursday evening, July 1, while all seemed bright and happy, the reaper death entered the family of Samuel J. Dale, of Warriorsmark, Pa., formerly of Arch Spring, while they were visiting at John Seibert's, the home of Mrs. Dale, four miles west of Bellefonte. The men were engaged in hauling hay, and just as the loaded wagon was about to be taken into the barn little 5 year old Charlie Dale climbed upon the stay chain. The chain, swinging, threw him under the wagon. The driver, not seeing this, started the team. John Seibert, Jr., made a dash to save him, but he was too late. The front wheel rested on the boy's neck, which was broken. One last word, "Papa," was uttered, and those little lips closed forever to mortal man. "The silver cord is loosened at the fountain and the golden bowl is broken," but the sparkling waters of the fountain of memory abound with lasting sweetness and beauty.

With friends and loved ones do we mourn, and especially to the sorrowing father and mother is our deep heartfelt sympathy extended, trusting that they may be comforted in the assurance that his is a triumph grand and beautiful forever.

Buttercups are Poisonous.

It is not generally known that the buttercup, which is such a favorite flower with children, has poisonous qualities, yet such is the case, and an inquest has recently been held on a boy who, after eating some buttercups, died within a few hours with all the symptoms of irritant poisoning. The buttercups belongs to the Ranunculaceoe, and nearly all the members of this group possess poisonous qualities, chiefly of an irritant nature, though in a few narcotic principles are to be found, The virulence of the poisons varies very much, but there are very few individuals of this order which are inert. The various species of buttercups have all irritant properties, and in the absence of better drugs they have occasionally been used as vesicatories. Cows avoid buttercups, but hogs and some other animals can eat them with impunity. The active principle is volatile, so that when the butte cups are dried with hay or exposed to the air they become inert. Luckily the buttercup, though pretty to look at does not usually tempt children to eat it wholesale, otherwise cases of poisoning might be less rare than they fortunately are at present.

Death of Mrs. Mariah Gates of Philipsburg.

Mrs, Mariah Gates died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Jones, on Eleventh street, Philipsburg Tuesday evening July 6th about 6 o'clock, aged nearly 81 years. Her maiden name was Williams, and was born and raised in Bald Eagle Valley. She had only lived in Philipsburg since about the middle of April last. Her husband has been dead about 34 years. She is survived by three children, Miles Gates, who lives at Unionville; Joseph, of South Philipsburg, and Mrs. J. C. Jones, at whose home she passed away. She was a member of the Baptist church for many years and was very highly esteemed by all who knew her. Old age was the principal cause of death. She was a kind mother and will be especially missed by her children.

The funeral took place Thursday, interment in the lower cemetery at Unionville. The friends left with the remains early in the morning.—Philipsburg Journal.

The Awful Heat.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Three deaths and five prostrations are reported as the result of to-day's heat, although the mercury did not go above 89. The dead are: John Garvey, inspector of streets and sewers, Allegheny; Lawrence Mooseberger, an employe of the Iron City brewery, and George Reilly, employed at Duquesne freight depot.

How a Maimed Canary Birds Sleeps.

With one leg hanging broken and helpless from its body and the other grasping firmly the swing of its cage a remarkable canary owned by Mrs. Joseph Printer, of Penn avenue and Thirty-fourth street, continues to swing while it sleeps. High up in its cage it lands on its perch at dusk and slumbers while it rocks until daylight. It reaches the swing by a steadied leap from the bottom of the cage. Confinement has long since removed the energy from its wings.

A clumsy grocer's assistant, led out of curosity to gape at the bird, jostled its cage from the hook, broke the bird's leg, almost sent its owner, who prized it beyond a money value, into hysterics, and aroused the indignation of a Sixteenth ward neighborhood. A physician kindly mended the fracture. He put it into splints and his order to bring about a cure recommended that all the perches in the cage be removed, so that the canary would be unable to reach the swing until the broken limb took hold again.

The canary fooled the physician, however, and for over a week it has been sleeping on the swing, and swinging all the time, while nursing a fractured limb.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and perscribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounce it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Forced Miners to Quit.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 7.—This morning, armed with pick handles and clubs, the striking Wheeling and Lake Erie miners at Long Run, over the river, proceeded to Dillonville, a short distance away on the same road, and forced the working miners at the latter place to come out on strike. The deputy United States marshals from Cincinnatti had not yet arrived.

Back of Bellaire, on the Baltimore and Ohio road, two railroad mines are working at the rate demanded by the miners, 60 cents, but the striking miners elsewhere are determined that the men shall not work at these mines until the strike is settled. There may be trouble at these two points.

—The late J. C. Blair, of Huntingdon, in a codicil to his will bequeathed $68,000 worth of stock in the J. C, Blair Manufacturing company to thirty-nine of its trusted employes. His superintendent, Elmer Africa, will receive $20,000 stock. Among the bequests was $1,500 stock to Frank L. Beckel, formerly of Tyrono, who has for many years travelled in the interest of Mr. Blair's great establishment.

—During a thunder storm on Tuesday a barn near Clearfield was struck by lightning and two horses killed. The barn was set on fire, but the flames were soon extinguished.

—A neighboring county editor recently wrote a strong editorial on patronizing home industries and merchants, and one of the storekeepers of the town wrote him a letter of thanks written on a letter head printed in Brooklyn.

Buff Fight in Pennsylvania.

William Seely finished his Sunday chores and turned the cows out to pasture and then went into the stall where the young bull was chained up to turn him out also Unhooking the chain, Seely started to drive the beast out, but he was not on the humor for going and turned upon the farm hand with an angry bellow. Seely had nothing with which to defend himself and the bull had him at his mercy. Penned in the narrow stall, the young man was knocked down by a terrible thrust of the bull's horns and tramped upon and jammed against the partition. He cried wildly for help and bravely fought for his life, but the odds were so great against him that there was small hope for his escape. In the narrow confines of the stall, however, the maddened beast had little room to move about, and this was the farm hand's advantage. His cries for help finally brought his employer, and with a pitchfork he managed to divert the animal's attention sufficiently to permit Seely to crawl out to safety. Bleeding from a score of cuts and bruises from the hoofs and horns, Seely was hurried to the hospital. He will recover.—Philadelphia Record.

Indigestion is often taken for consumption. The word consumption means wasting away, and dyspeptics often waste away as badly as consumptives.

The reason people waste away is because either they don't get enough to eat, or they don't digest what they do eat.

If the latter is your trouble, take Shakers Digestive Cordial. This will help you to digest your food and stop your loss of flesh.

Shakers Digestive Cordial is made from herbs, barks and juices of fruit, by the well-known Shakers at Mount Lebanon.

It possesses great tonic and digestive powers.

Shaker Digestive Cordial has cured many supposed consumptives (who were really dyspeptics), by simply helping their stomachs to digest their food, thus giving them nourishment and new strength.

Where Are They?

In 1848 D. I. Pruner was justice of the peace for the Borough of Bellefonte, and B. Galbraith was constable. Samuel Linn was an attorney in this place and Major W. F. Reynolds was an active business man. James D. McLanahen & Co., at that time, was considered a strong financial firm. Times were hard and most every creditor was pushing his debtor to the wall, which part of history is repeating itself this year of grace 1897, forty-nine years afterwards. Not one of the persons then engaged in distressing creditors, and the officers of the law, are around to day. Where have they gone? No one knows; but it is evident they did not take their accumulations with them. At the time spoken of the average price of horses was $18 per head; price of three-year-old cattle $5.50 per head, and cured ham sold at 6 cents a pound.

A Rather Rich Find.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The effects found on the body of the man picked up in the North river at the foot of Houston street yesterday were brought to the coroner's office to-day. Among them were several letters in Swedish language. One of the letters addressed "Brother Alfred" was signed "Otto Johnson, Clermont, Pa," There was also a passport made out at Flyttsingberg and dated April 8, 1893. A postoffice order for $100 was sewed up in the dead man's vest and in his pocket was $108.50 in cash and a $50 confederate bill.

Terrible Pains

In the Stomach—Dreadful Headaches—Face and Neck Covered With Boils—Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla—Skin is Now Clear.

"I was covered with boils all over my face and neck. I had dreadful headaches and pains in my stomach. I took medicines, but was not much benefited, and I procured six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking the first bottle I could see an improvement. When I had taken a few more bottles the boils had all gone, my skin was clear, my appetite returned, and my health was entirely restored. I am thankful I ever found such a blood purifier as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I paid out a good deal of money for useless medicines before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. F. BECKWITH, Hurlock, Maryland.

Claims the Election Was Illegal.

The project of Tyrone borough to bta in municipal ownership of the gas and water plants there received a setback in the court Thursday. The citizens of that town on Tuesday of last week voted to borrow $103,000 to purchase the existing water and gas plants, which are private concerns. Thursday the Tyrone Gas and Water company, A. A. Stevens, D. G. Hills, W. Walton and Joshua Burley filed in court a protest, alleging that the ordinance providing for the election was illegal; that the special election was not legally advertised; that the amount to be borrowed would encumber the borough beyond the lawful amount, and that the election was illegal.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention the REPUBLICAN and send your full post office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y. The Gun Went Off.

TRENTON, N. J., July 12.—William Schindle, of this city, was shot in the breast to-day by Charles E. Mink, of Philadelphia, and is not expected to live. The men were in a boat gunning when Mink, who was handling his gun, touched the trigger and the charge exploded. Schindle was taken to St. Francis hospital and Mink was taken into custody. Both men say the shooting was accidental.

REASONS FOR USING

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 12, 1897.

Although the secrecy maintained by the Senators and Representatives on the conference committee, which is at work on the tariff bill passed by the Senate last week, is aggravating to the newsgatherers, it is considered absolutely necessary to avoid delay in the final disposition of the bill. If each agreement reached by the conference should be announced, there would be no peace for the members of the committee, owing to the objections of those who are interested. It has also been determined, to avoid delay, that no partial reports shall be made to the House and Senate, everything being held back until a final agreement has been reached. Experience has proven that partial reports are productive of much delay, especially when the measure under consideration is of such a complicated nature as a tariff bill necessarily is. Although there is nothing official on the subject, I have excellent reasons for saying that the Republican conferees—the Democratic conferees will take no part in the conferences until the Republicans have reached an agreement—expect to complete their work this week.

President McKinley has indicated quite plainly to a number of prominent Republicans that he has about decided to modify Mr. Cleveland's orders for the extension of the civil service rules, and the President's order may be expected at any time. It is not yet certain how far this modification will go, but it is the impression of those who have talked with Major McKinley on the subject that deputy collectors of internal revenue, who have charge of the distribution of stamps, and deputy collectors of customs, who are in charge of sub-stations, will be among those placed outside of the civil service rules.

As was stated in this correspondence several months ago, Mr. Cleveland's consolidation of Pension Agencies, announced to go into effect September 1, 1897, will not go into effect. The Cleveland order will in due time be officially revoked by President McKinley, a thorough investigation having shown that the government would save nothing by the proposed consolidation, and that it would greatly inconvenience thousands of pensioners.

The report that Japan will file an additional and much stronger protest against the annexation of Hawaii excites such very little interest in Washington that nobody appears to care whether it turns out to be true or not. Hawaii will be annexed in due time, and Senator Morgan, a dyed-in-the-wool Democratic member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, says that if President McKinley wishes the treaty to be ratified at the present session of Congress, instead of at the regular session, next winter, he has only to say so and it will be done.

Secretary Alger has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at a G. A. R. reunion at Spirit Lake, Iowa, on the 21st inst., and from there he will go to Chicago to be present at the unveiling of the Logan statue on the 22nd inst. President McKinley is very anxious to be present at the latter event, and if Congress adjourns this week he will go.

There is a strong probability that Congress will adjourn as soon as the tariff bill has been agreed to, as it is unlikely that there will be any serious attempt to secure action on the President's currency commission recommendation at this session; at least, not in the Senate. The House may act upon it. Present indications are that the tariff bill will be completed and signed by the President before the end of the week.

President and Mrs. McKinley have decided to spend a greater part of their vacation on Lake Champlain, which makes it certain that they will not be able to make their contemplated visit to the Pacific coast this summer. They will not give up the idea, however, as the President is very anxious to see that section of the country and will go at the first opportunity, probably next summer.

A Beautiful Complexion.

If you are suffering from poverty of blood, blood disorders, scrofula, boils, carbuncles, eruptions, pimples, and have a bad complexion, Dr. John W. Bull's Pills are the best constitutional remedy that can be employed. They are a perfect purifier and enricher of the blood; a tonic of supreme qualities. They will fortify the system, making it impenetrable to disease, and give glow to the cheeks and color to the complexion. Dr. Bull's Pills (60 in a box) cost but 25 cents; trial box, 10 cents, at all dealers, or by mail. A. C. Meyer & Co., Baltimore, Md. Some dealer may try to substitute some ordinary, cathartic pills; don't be deceived; ask for Dr. John W. Bull's Pills, the only genuine, and take no other.

Off for Nashville.

Wilmer L. Malin, secretary of the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition Commission of Pennsylvania, left for Nashville Wednesday by way of Pittsburg. Nothing has been done as yet by this state in the way of preparing an exhibit, and at a meeting of the executive committee held in Harrisburg Thursday night, Mr. Malin was directed to proceed to Nashville, look over the ground and return and make a report to the committee in regard to the most appropriate exhibit to be made by this state at that exposition. He will be gone about ten days.

The Heart Must Not be Trifled With.

Where there are symptoms of heart weakness, there should be Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, it's a magical remedy, gives relief in thirty minutes, and there are thousands who testify that it cures permanently. Mrs. W. T. Rundle, of Dundalk, Ont., says: "I was for years unable to attend to my household duties, I used Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart the result was wonderful. The pain left me immediately after the first dose, and a few bottles cured."

Almost a Defeat.

PARIS, July 12.—The government had a narrow escape from defeat in the Chamber of Deputies to-day.

The Ministers desired to postpone until autumn the discussion of the bill for the readjustment of the direct taxes, the passage of which would chiefly benefit the peasantry.

The opposition, led by M. Millerand, Socialist, urged the immediate discussion of the measure.

In the first division the government was defeated by a vote of 270 to 245.

Another division was finally taken, and M. Millerand's motion for the immediate discussion of the bill was lost by a vote of 270 to 257.

The trouble was largely due to the defection of a section of the Rightists. Should this occur again to-morrow, when the usual bill, renewing the direct taxes, is introduced, another critical division is possible. The downfall of the Ministry on the eve of President Faure's visit to St. Petersburg would be most unfortunate.

Hot Weather Don'ts.

Don't shave too close.

Don't hurry. Don't worry.

Don,t eat heavily, especially of meat.

Don't fill yourself full of iced water.

Don't drink anything with alcohol in it.

Don't run to catch a train. There are others.

Don't quarrel with anybody about anything.

Don't wear any more clothes than the law requires.

Don't walk on the sunny side when there is a shady side.

Don't imagine this sort of thing is going to last long. It never does.

Don't be scared if you can't sleep for the heat. You will sleep when sleep is absolutely neccessary.

Above all things don't ask anybody, "Is it hot enough for you?" There's incitement to murder in that question.

Don't complain of the weather. Complaining won't help it, and besides you'll be sorry next winter for all the hard things you said about summer.

No Eden in the Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The party of 100 men who sailed recently from this city on the brigantine Percy Edwards for some Adamless Eden in the South seas, where pretty native women yearned for spouses, and where there was no harder work than picking up cocoanuts, have come to grief in the Fiji islands. A letter from one of the colonists says that all their dreams were illusions. No islands could be found that were not preempted by England or Germany, and most of the good land was already in the hands of large corporations, which have fenced their possessions with barbed wire and put up warnings against trespassers. Forty of the colonists decided to abandon their dreams of a coral island Eden, and they secured land near Suva, Fiji, and will plant it in bananas, which are a paying crop.

Sixty of the adventurers decided to work the brigantine to Aukland, New Zealand, from which place the vessel will return here if no suitable island is found. Most of the colonists on the vessel are single men, who became weary of regular work and hoped to find some South Sea paradise where leisure would be ample and food easy to get. One hundred dollars was the price of a share in the colony and the round trip.

Two Armies—The Regular and Irregular.

To which would you prefer to belong? The regular, undoubtedly. The irregulars, are, admittedly, the most numerous, but they are in a very undesirable state o no-discipline. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon remedy this want in a disordered liver or bowels. Billousness manifests itself in yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, sour breath, furred tongue, morning nausea, discomfort in the vicinity of the liver, vertigo and sick headache. Hosts of people suffer thus. These signs of insubordination to the goverence of health, together with an irregular condition of the bowels, are soon regulated by the bitters, which also overcomes malaria, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and kidney trouble. As a means of checking premature decay, hastening convalescence and migrating the infirmaties of age, the great tonic is without a parallel.

New Town to be Built.

PITTSBURG, July 11.—A new industrial town is to be built on the east side of the Monongahela river, in Rostraver township Westmoreland county, Monessen is to be the name of this new place, which it is declared, will be the model manufacturing town in the great industrial valley.

It is also declared that it will be one of the first fruits of returning prosperity to the United States. The name is formed by a combination of the first syllable of the name river with the name of the famous Prussian manufacturing town on the Rhine, where the Krupp gun works are located. The name is no only euphonious, but carries a meaning—Esen on the Monongahela. A number of manufacturing plants are said to be assured and one is already in course of construction, the mill of the National TinPlate company, a strubture of steel, brick and stone into which 1,500 tons of new rolling mill machnery is ready to do moved, and which will give employment to 1,000 persons, 90 per cent. of whom will be adults.

Ladies Who Suffer

From any complaint peculiar to their sex—such as Profuse, Painful, Suppressed or Irregular Menstruation, are soon restored to health by Bradfield's Female Regulator.

It is a combination of remedial agents which have been used with the greatest success for more than 25 years, and known to act specifically with and on the organs of Menstruation, and recommended for such complaints only. It never fails to give relief and restore the health of the suffering woman. It should be taken by the girl just budding into womanhood when Menstruation is Scant, Suppressed, Irregular or Painful, and all delicate women should use it, as its tonic properties have a wonderful influence in toning up and strengthening the system by driving through the proper channels all impurities.

"A daughter of one of my customers missed menstruation from exposure and cold, and on arriving at puberty her health was completely wrecked, until she was twenty-four years of age, when upon my recommendation, she used one bottle of Bradfield's Female Regulator, completely restoring her to health."

A Sick Woman.

Mrs. C. C. Filler, 131½ South Fourth Street, Columbus, Ohio, writes in a letter dated July 21st, 1893: "For ten or fifteen years I have been Subject to nervous dyspepsia. I would have spells of quivering in my stomach, with smothering feelings. My nerves were terribly debilitated. I was suffering from what is called nervous prostration. My stomach felt bloated. and I was constantly weak and trembling. I consulted several physicians, who treated me without doing me any good. I had almost given up in despair when I heard of Pe-ru-na. It was about six years ago that I first took Pe-ru-na. I found it an immediate relief to all my disagreeable symptoms. It is the only medicine that has been of any use to me."

Queen Lil in New York.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, spent the day quietly at the Hotel Albemarle. Her suite consists of Mrs Joseph Heleluhe, Joseph H, Heleluhe and Julius Palmer, her private secretary.

She did not leave the hotel during the day and received no callers. Mr, Palmer said that as yet the ex-queen had no plans laid out for the week, He denied that the ex-queen had made an effort to get an interview with President McKinley and failed.

"It is absolutely false," said Secretary Palmer, "and a reflection on a gentleman. The last day we were in Washington I called on the president and while I will not say what the nature of our conversation was, I will say that not the least allusion was made to having an interview between Liliuokalani and the president. I was most delightfully received by Mr. McKinley. The ex-queen has met many senators in a social way in Washington, but politics were never mentioned. She was well received everywhere."

Her Lover Unfaithful.

NORFOLK, Va., July 11.—The body of a young girl found floating in the harbor at Lambert's Point has been identified as that of Bettie Pugh, who has been missing since Tuesday morning. It was at first feared that she had been foully dealt with, but the investigation made by the authorities confirms the suicide theory. It is known that on several occasions the unfortunate woman had threatened to commit suicide, and disappointment in love is assigned as the cause of her rash act. Her fiance had been paying attention to another and his faithlessness preyed upon her mind.

A LOCAL PAINTER.

Drops His Paint Pot and Brush to Make a Few Remarks on Renovating.

This homily is for Bellefonte people. It is especially intended for them. If it reaches the ears of outsiders they have to thank the public press and Mr. Harry J. Williams of water street. The gentleman is a painter, an authority on the action of turpentine, benzine and other drysis in the painting process and on the human system. He is also an authority on the action of the old Quaker remedy.

The calling of a painter, under the best circumstances, is not an easy one on the back, and when delicate organs are inflamed and excited and become so tender that they actually throb with pain, the occupation becomes so tiresome that many a painter has thrown down his brush in disgust and wished he would die. Mr. Williams says:

"The first trouble I had from my kidneys was from a fall while working on a building where the floor was only partly laid. I slipped and wrenched my back very severely when carrying a board. Ever since then I have had a weakness in the loins and at intervals it broke out into very severe attacks of excruciating pains. Often while at work, long before the close of the day, my back gave out and ached so I felt like giving up. The ingredients used in my business are hard on a good, sound pair of kidneys, but when you constantly inhale them, and they effect weak ones, the suffering is positively awful. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills curing any disease of kidney complaint similar to mine and I thought I would try them as my trouble was really becoming serious. I got a box at F. Potts Green's Pharmacy and commenced to use it. They surprised me how soon they acted. I have taken on other medicine for some time and I can only attribute my cure to their action. You are at liberty to make these facts public."

A SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Held at Lock Haven by the Business Men of the Two Cities.

Tuesday evening was the date set for another meeting of the committee for the Business Men's picnic, to be held August 12th, at Hecla Park. The committeemen from this section who were present at this meeting on Tuesday evening were Col. Shortlidge, Thomas A. Shoemaker, Frank Warfield, George R. Meek, J. Will Conley and John Walker, of Bellefonte, and Wm. H. Noll, of Pleasant Gap. These gentlemen, with a representative of the REPUBLICAN, left on the afternoon train for Lock Haven. They were taken to the Fallon House, where they were very royally treated by Mr. Warfield. After supper they retired to the parlors of the Lock Haven club, where they were met by the business men of Lock Haven and Clinton county.

The meeting was opened at 7:20 by the election of P. P. Rittman as chairman and W. M. Robinson as secretary. The minutes of the last meeting were then read and the work of the different committees discussed. Everything seemed to be very satisfactory to all.

One of the most interesting features of the day, which was introduced to the committee by Mr. Shoemaker and was accepted, will be a cake walk, which will take place towards evening on the platform by the colored people of Centre and Clinton counties.

As Bellefonte had full charge of the picnic last year, it is no more than right that Lock Haven should have full sway this year; so everything in the way of buying prizes, furnishing music and printing will be given to that city.

This picnic will be one of the largest and grandest picnics ever held in Centre or Clinton counties. Every hour in the day will be taken up with amusement of some kind.

Mr. Geo. R. Meek, assisted by Col. Morrison, of Lock Haven, will have charge of the trap shooting, which will be a very interesting feature. Eighty pigeons will be procured for this occasion.

Mr. J. Will Conley, who has charge of the following races, wishes us to request the young men who desire to enter any of the contests to please hand their names to him within two weeks, so that he can make a full report at the next meeting of the committee. The following prizes will be awarded to those who are the successful competitors in these races:

Tub race—First prize, $3; second, $2; third, $1.

Foot race, best two out of three, ¼ mile races—First prize, $10; second, $5, third, $2.

Swimming race, 200 yards, open to boys under 15 years—First prize, $3; second, $2; third, $1.

Howard Happenings.

Mr. William Jenkins, of Bellefonte, transacted business in our town last Friday.

Miss Alice Long and Mrs. William Mahaffey, departed for McGees last week.

Mr. Lem Husted is again shaking hands with his many friends in our town.

Mr. Philip Crider of Bellefonte, transacted business in our town last week.

Mrs. Aaron Snyder and son, Charles, who have been visiting friends and relations in this place, departed for their house in Bradford, last Wednesday.

The Hornet has again returned from its winter quarters. Fred says he will soon have the first issue ready, and we once more look forward to that event when we can boast of having a local paper.

The United Evangelical church will hold a dime social at the residence of Mr. M. P. Holter on Friday evening, July 16. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The moonlight picnic, given by the Misses Hensyl and Miss Maud Hopkins, last Friday evening, was a delightful affair.

Messrs. Saml. Wallach of New York and Harry Holtz of Bellefonte spent Tuesday at the home of Dr. L. R. Hensyl.

Miss Maud Hopkins gave a company to her young friends Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Orrin Brickley gave a very pleasant birthday party for her nine year old daughter Mahala. Miss Mahala received a large number of appropriate presents. Those present were: Alma Packer, Lulu Ertle, Lulu Schenck, Anna Holter, Minnie Heverly, Jennie Ertle, Emma Pletcher, Mabel Sechrist, Rue DeHaas, Anna Thompson, Alice Welsh, Nellie Hopkins, Minnie Hayes, Florence Confer, Eva Neff, George Hensyl, Howard Brickley, James Long, Saml. Brickley, Bernard Long, Mrs L. R. Hensyl, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dunham Harry Williams, Will Hensyl, Mabel Packer, Adda Confer, and Anna Hopkins

Hood's Pills

The Peach Crop.

We have been waiting for it, and our patience has at last been rewarded. Information of reliable character has been received that the Peninsula peach crop will be a dead failure, The cause of unpleasant intelligence is the fact that the young peaches that fell in what is known as the "June drop," every one of which was brought to the ground by the curculio, an insect terribly destructive to all stone fruit, were not gathered and removed from the vicinity of the trees that still contain round fruit. The result was that the insect refered to, having attained its growth in the fallen peaches, emerged, and finding its way to the trees, attacked the sound fruit, with results stated—the destruction of almost the entire crop.

Siberia Not an Arctic Waste.

Siberia is not an arctic waste, peopled by a few Russian convicts, but an immense country with vast resources impatiently awaiting developments. An English military attache, who has traveled through that vast country, declares that Siberia can produce about every kind of cereal and all sorts of live stock, and it possesses in abundant quantities the more important minerals, precious and others. Owing to the enormous distances and the cost of transport the Russians have hitherto had no opportunity to place their Siberian produce on the great European markets, The construction of a rail-way through Manchuria will open up a country exceedingly rich in gold, and highly valuable from an agricultural point of view.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 11.—William A. Morris, aged 38, a junk dealer, while quarreling with his wife at an early hour this morning picked up a lighted lamp and threw it at her. It broke, the oil spilled over the bed and set fire to it. He lay down on the smouldering bed ef ed to move. While his wife went for help his body burned to a crisp.

A Physician's Tribute

To the Benefits Received From Dr. Miles' NEW HEART CURE.

HEART DISEASE is curable. It is not surprising that all cases are not cured, since no physician has made the heart a special study for a quarter of a century as Dr. Miles has done. The following tribute from a physician will be read with interest. "For six years prior to taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure my wife was a terrible sufferer from heart disease. She had a constant fluttering of the heart and severe palpitation and pain in the left side. She took three bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and was completely restored to health, and has not taken a drop of medicine during the past two years. Under these circumstances I cannot do otherwise than recommend it to others."

PRISONERS TALK.

The Men Suspected of Killing Little Edna Crider Tell Their Story.

The excitement in Lock Haven Friday night, when the details of the horrible murder of Edna Crider became known, was intense. There was an expression of satisfaction over the fact that the men who are suspected of being concerned in the crime were lodged in jail. The prompt action of Coroner Hayes, District Attorney Hall and Officers Keller and Martin is highly commended. It was a clever piece of work on the part of the officials, and they are justly entitled to the praise they are receiving.

A reporter of the Lock Haven Express visited the jail and had a brief interview with the two men under arrest on suspicion.

Paul Koitsch, when asked if he had any statement to make, said:

"I left Jack Cushan with the little girl, and the man he went into the room with the little girl. I went up on the railroad crossing and met two fellows. They said, 'This is Fourth of July, Bud.' I said, 'You're right.' I was tired and sleepy and weak. Was at North Bend Monday night. Went to Lebo's camp Tuesday afternoon. Then I went to the Italian shanty near camp. When I was at the railroad crossing I saw the little girl and George Lebo driving the cows home not far from the house. This was about 6:00 o'clock. When I got to the Italian shanty I laid down by the table and slept there till Wednesday morning. Then went to the camp. I have been two years working at the camp. Jack said to me to have nothing to do with the little girl. I said, 'I can play all night with a little girl.' I then said, 'good night, Jack I am going home.' I was at North Bend with John Smith. We were at Renovo Monday, went to North Bend Monday night. Had two jugs of whiskey with us. I feel as innocent as any one and that will be my last word. I was never in trouble before. My age is 32 years.

JACK CUSHAN'S STORY.

Jack Cushan, when asked if he desired to make any statement to the reporter, said:

"On Tuesday I was working, hoeing potatoes for Herritt, and got through at noon. I took one of my team horses out and washed him off. I was still around there when Johnny Smith and Paul came with a buggy. Smith stopped and asked if the boss was at home. I said yes. He said, 'Come over, we got a jug.' I went over about 5:00 o'clock; Paul, Sam Lebo and Smith were near the barn at Lebo's. When I came Smith said, 'there's the jug.' I went and got the jug; I took three drinks out of the jug; Paul was fooling with the little girl. I said you should not fool with the little girl. He said he didn't mean anything by it. I went into the house and Sam Lebo took me home. At the camp barn he said to Jake Kissell, take care of this fellow. I went into the barn and about 8:30 Herritt called to me from the window to stop hollering and keep still. I then went to bed and slept till called next morning. I first heard the girl was missing Wednesday; we all went to hunt for her; me and George Hennessey found the girl. Hennessey found her first; he said, 'here she is.'

I was born in 1859; I am as innocent as a child."

Koitsch is a German, but speaks English fairly well. Both of the men protested their innocence.

LITTLE EDNA'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of little Edna Crider, the murdered girl, took place Friday at noon. There was a large attendance at the funeral and a neat casket had been procured, in which the remains reposed. There were a number of floral tributes, among them being a beautiful floral wreath.

There is no minister of the gospel residing in that vicinity, although there is regular preaching services at Haneyville at stated times. On account of there being no minister to conduct the funeral services a prayer was offered at the house by Theodore Greene and also at the grave. Interment was made in the cemetery at Haneyville.

Among the relatives of little Edna present at the funeral were her father, two brothers, two sisters and a brother-in-law.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

The murder of the little innocent child is shrouded in mystery. No one saw her murdered and the two men under arrest both protest their innocence of the crime, and the officials do not give out anything they may know of the case.

Emperor William Injured.

ODDE, NORWAY, July 11.—Emperor William, while walking upon the deck of his yacht at this place to-day, while one of the masts was being lowered, was struck a violent blow on the left eye by a rope, causing an extravasation of blood on the eye-ball. A bandage was immediately placed over the injured eye, and the pain ceased almost at once.

An Alabama Tale of Heat.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—The heat in this state has been intense for several days. A professional man of this city was exhibiting to-day an ear of corn that had been parched in his patch. Several eggs in the express cars passing through here have hatched out, one box having as many as five young chickens in it, Local rains have kept the air from being unbearable.

Grateful Letter Carriers.

Baltimore, Md., July 11.—The local branch of the National Letter Carriers' Benefical Association met on Saturday and passed resolutions thanking Senator Wellington for his efforts in having the judgments, recently allowed by the United States Court of Claims in the Baltimore letter carriers' back pay claims cases, inserted in the general deficiency bill, now pendgin before the Senate. The resolutions will be forwarded to the Senator.

At a meeting of the Brown Fraternal League of ex-Letter Carriers, held on Saturday night, resolutions were presented by a committee of which T. R. Allworth was the chairman, thanking Senators Wellington and Gorman for services in the same case. The amount of the Baltimore claims allowed exceeds $25,000, which was secured through the work mainly of the attorneys for the claimants, Charles, William B. and George A. King, of Washington, D. C.

WOURALI.

"You fellows can believe it or not as you like," said Mackay, "but I tell you that for a day and a night I have known what it is to be dead."

"Oh, come, Mac, that's too much. The major has given us some pretty tall ones, but we can't quite swallow that."

"Perhaps," suggested the major "Mackay refers to a state of alcoholic saturation. I have heard—"

"Shut up, major!" interrupted Highfield. "Don't be feeble."

"Oh, all right!" said Mackay. Only you said it was my turn for a yarn; but of course if—"

"Fire away, Mac; never mind the major; he's an unbelieving Jew, when his own tales are bested. We'll believe you. Observe the child-like innocence of our countenances."

"Very well, then, you shall have the yarn."

"It happened out in British Guinea. Phil Egerton and I had been knocking about that district in a yacht. Phil was a bit of a scientist—had dabbled in the ologies when he was at Oxford—and he found something to interest him in the shallow waters round the coast. The buckets of mud and slimy things he fished up weren't very exciting for me; so I put in a good deal of time hanging round the bars and billiard rooms of Georgetown. Poker is a good game in the other hemisphere. You fellows don't rise to the possibilities here."

"I don't think I could mention the place that I've spent more than a month in without contriving to make a fool of myself over some girl. She was a bar maid this time, and, by Jove! she was pretty. We called her 'the Queen,' and I never knew her by any other name. What nationality she belonged to I can't tell you. I think she had a dash of most of them in her, but English, Spanish and Indian were perhaps the most prominent English in business, Spanish in love, but pure, undiluted Indian in hate. It was a dangerous mixture, but you've no notion how fascinating. I wasn't by any means the only fellow who succumbed to her charms, but I believe I was the only one she cared a gin cocktail about. You'll admit that the position had its dangers. Of course I knew perfectly well that I was making an ass of myself, but I couldn't help it. The only thing for me to do was to bolt. If I stayed another week I should marry her, and then there would be the deuce to pay."

"'Look here, Egerton,' I said one night, 'you've got to take me away from here. Leave those confounded weeds of yours, and let's weigh anchor and be off.'

"'What's the matter, Mac?' said Egerton. 'Got the fidgets? I'm sorry, old man, but I've discovered a new species among these said weeds, and I want to work it up.'

"'Well, Phil, my boy, if you won't leave, you'll have to be my best man, that's all.'

"That frightened him a bit. I told him the whole story, and he saw there was no time to be lost, if I was to be saved. Phil Egerton knew me pretty well in those days.

"'I'll tell you what we'll do, Mac,' he said. 'You know Wilson, the sugar planter. He tells me there is some capital shooting to be had in the interior; any amount of birds, and a chance at a stray jaguar or two. He's going to have a month of it, and has asked me to join him. We can take the yacht's boat and go up the Demerara until we strike the woods. What do you say?'

"Anything you like, so long as you get me out of this mess.'

"We went in the morning and saw Wilson about it. He was delighted, and said he would start as soon as we could get ready.

"Of course any sensible man in my position would have had the common prudence to employ the intervening time in cleaning his guns and looking out for various odds and ends for the expedition, but, as I tell you, where women are concerned I'm not to be counted in the class of sensible men. I went to see 'the Queen', and naturally she wormed the whole thing out of me.

"'Phil,' I said when I got back, 'if we can't start to-morrow, we needn't go at all. It would spoil the party if I took a wife with me.'

"'We'll start to-night if you like, Mac. I'm ready; and, if Wilson isn't, he can follow us. But what's the hurry? You haven't told her you're going, have you?'

"'Yes, I have, and that's why it don't do for me to stay here longer.'

"'Well, Mac, of all the thundering idiots it has been my privilege to know, I do think you're about the biggest. Why on earth couldn't you vanish quietly, and leave her to find out about it afterwards?'

"'I meant to, but when I started talking to her, out it all came.'

"'What possessed you to go there at all to-day?'

"'Oh, come, Phil, be reasonable. You couldn't have kept away yourself, if you'd been in my place.'

"'You had a scene, I suppose?'

"'Well, slightly. She accused me of wanting to get rid of her—trying to run away, in fact; and, as it was perfectly true, I fancy I didn't show up very well in the argument that followed.'

"'Oh, you great bearded infant; put your hat on and we'll go and see Wilson at once.'

"We started next morning. I was feeling a little bit hipped, of course, but the others were jolly enough. As I think I told you, Phil had a weakness for pottering around in scientific messes, and he found a kindred spirit in Wilson, whose hobby was birds. It was really to get some specimens that he had originally proposed this expedition.

"'By the way, Wilson,' said Phil 'have you ever managed to get hold of any curare?'

"'Curare?' said Wilson. 'I don't know it; what is it?'

"'Probably it has got some other name out here. We called it curare in Oxford—Indian arrow poison, you know.'

"'Oh! you mean "wourali." No, I can't say as I have, and I don't think I want to either. It isn't a very safe plaything.'

"'Safe enough,' said Phil, 'so long as you haven't any cuts or scratches on your hands.'

"'For heaven's sake, shut up that scientific shop!' I exclaimed. 'We've come out here to enjoy ourselves, not to talk like a confounded British association meeting.'

"'Poor old Mac!' said Phil, 'what shall we talk about? Will billiards do—or barmaids?'

"'Drop it, Phil,' I said; 'I don't want to be a bear, but your jargon isn't very interesting to a chap who hardly knows an ology from an ism. Let's have something to eat.'

"We found a shady spot under some bushes to have our meal in. We were just lighting up afterwards, and I was holding the match to my pipe when something flashed out of the bushes and knocked the pipe out of my mouth.

"'What's that?' said Phil, starting up.

"'It's a dagger,' I said. 'Just see what's behind those bushes, you chaps, while I tie my handkerchief round this hand. I've got a bit of a scratch. If it's "The Queen," let her go. Thank goodness she missed my face.'

"It was 'The Queen.' They caught sight of her among the bushes, but she got away all right. They didn't follow her far, but came back to see if I was much hurt.

"'It's nothing serious,' I said; only a scratch, but I think my nerves must be a bit upset. It has made me feel horribly tired. I'll go and lie down in the boat for a while, and let you fellows finish your smoke. I've got a bit of a head.'

"'Mackay, you're crying,' exclaimed Wilson, 'and the sweat is simply pouring down your face. You're pretty badly hurt.'

"'Crying" shouted Phil. 'Wilson, that dagger is poisoned!'

"'Poisoned? You don't mean——'

"'Yes, I do. It's "wourali;" copious secretion of sweat and tears, headache, feeling of extreme lassitude—those are the exact symptoms. Off with that bandage, Mac.'

"'Good heavens! he's done for,' said Wilson.

"'Done for! Not a bit of it. Off with that bandage; I'm going to suck the wound!'

"I had just got enough energy left to protest against his doing this, but he insisted, and I was too feeble to prevent him.

"'Nonsense, man,' he said; "I'm safe enough. The stuff isn't a poison taken internally, even if I do manage to swallow some.'

"He put his lips to the wound, and then I closed my eyes and everything became a blank.

"It must have been hours afterwards that I began slowly to regain, I can't say consciousness, but an indefinite sensation of existence, and horrible weariness. It seemed to me that I was swimming on and on somewhere in a vague, purposeless way, and I was very, very tired. I call it swimming, but that isn't an exact description. I could feel my arms moving back and forth with a steady rhythmical motion, but the rest of my body was absolutely still. I was almost suffocating for want of air, but I didn't seem to have strength to gasp. How long that sensation lasted I can't say, but it must have been a very long time. I wouldn't voluntarily go through another hour of such unutterable and helpless misery for anything you could offer me. I tell you it has given me my theory of what future punishment may be like.

"As consciousness gradually returned, the feeling of infinite weariness became more and more unbearable. My arms were still swinging backwards and forwards like a couple of animated pump handles, and I was quite unable either to stop them or to move any other part of my body. Try and imagine the sensation; it was simply awful.

"When I did finally come to myself so far as to know what was going on, I did it pretty thoroughly. You know the theory that, when a man loses the use of his eyes, his sense of touch and hearing become unusually acute? From my experience that day I can quite believe it. I had lost all power of motion, and my perceptive faculties became, to compensate, most uncomfortably keen. I felt as if I could almost see through my closed eyelids.

"Phil told me afterwards that the peculiarity of 'wourali' poisoning is that, if the dose is not very large, only the nerves of motion are paralyzed, while those of sensation become abnormally sensitive. I knew everything that was going on round me, and I could hear every word they said, but I couldn't wink to let them know I was alive.

"They had stuck a knife-handle between my teeth to keep my mouth open and the weariness in my arms was caused by the fact that for nearly a day and a night Phil and Wilson had been taking it in turns to practice artificial respiration on me

"'Egerton,' I heard Wilson say, 'do you think it's any good going on longer? He hasn't breathed now for nearly twenty hours. I believe he's dead.'

"'We'll go on as long as we can stand!" said Phil, and I blessed him for it. "If we can only keep the artificial respiration going till the poison is eliminated, he will recover. For God's sake, keep it up as long as you can, Wilson.'

"'If you think there is the slightest chance of saving him, I'll go on; but I don't think I can last out much longer.'

"It must have been about two hours after Wilson had declared that I was dead that Phil saw my eyelids begin to twitch.

"'At last, Wilson!' he cried. 'Go and get some water from the river.'

"They dashed the cold water over me, and it caused me to gasp slightly. It was enough; I had begun to breathe again. They carried me to the boat, and, as soon as they saw the danger was over, they, both of them, sat down on the bottom boards and fell fast asleep. In a very few minutes after them, I was asleep too.

"Nearly fifteen hours after that, I woke, feeling rather weak and faint, but otherwise as right as a rivet. The other two were still asleep, and I didn't wake them.

"That is the story, and I don't think I was guilty of an exaggeration when I told you that for a day and a night I had known what death was. A man who remains for twenty-four hours without once drawing a breath may fairly claim to be dead, I think."

The House and the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The House to day sent the tariff bill to conference. Chairman Dingley, Payne, of New York; Dalzell, of Pennsylvania; Hopkins, of Illinois, and Grosvenor, of Ohio, Republicans, and Bailey, of Texas; McMillan, of Tennessee, and Wheeler, of Alabama, Democrats, were appointed conferees. The proceedings were in no wise sensational.

This action was taken by means of a special order brought in from the committee on rules. The minority made no objection to it, but protested because the majority refused in advance to enter into an agreement as to the length of time to be allowed for debate when the bill is reported back by the conferees. They also attempted to make some political capital out of the refusal of the majority to permit action on the Cuba beligerency resolutions and the bankruptcy bill.

The remainder of the day, after the tariff bill had been sent to conference, was occupied by the House in paying tribute to the memory of the late William S. Holman, the old "watchdog of the treasury."

$10,000 To Marry a Cousin.

READING, Pa., July 8.—Harry W. Lessig, residing at 509 Keifer street, was left a legacy of $10,000 on condition that he marry his pretty 17-year-old cousin, Katie Lessig, of Baltimore.

On March 22 last David Lessig died at his home in Baltimore, leaving a good-sized estate. Under the will deceased left $25,000 outright to his only daughter, Katie, and added a clause that $10,000 shall go to the oldest unmarried son of his brother, William Lessig, of Reading, provided he married his daughter.

Young Mr. Lessig had not seen his uncle for nine years, and does not even know his cousin. The young woman is to visit Reading in August, when they will meet for the first time.

Editor Kurtz's Mishap.

Our friend, brother Charles Kurtz, of the Democrat, met with quite a thrilling experience last Thursday afternoon. He was out driving with a lady friend, on the pike toward Centre Hall, when his horse became frightened at a train which was just passing, and ran away. Both Mr. Kurtz and his lady friend jumped out without sustaining any injuries, while the horse continued its course until stopped near the home of Thomas Shearer, this side of the Springs. The horse belonged to J. W. Rightnour, and was badly cut and bruised, while the buggy was also pretty badly damaged.

Standing of the Elks.

At the national convention of the Elks at Minneapolis, the report of the grand secretary showed the order to be in a prosperous state. The membership is now 35,000, an increase of 7,000 during the year. Thirty-three new lodges have been added to the roll and there is $10,000 surplus in the treasury to contrast with the $10,000 deficit that faced the secretary three years ago.

Somewhat of a Difference.

P. V. Collins, a prime mover for good highways in Minnesota, figures out that the average cost of hauling on the average road in America is one dollar per ton for four miles, while in Europe it is sixteen cents for the same load the same distance.

Crusher in Operation.

A contract for crushed stone for the Beech Creek railroad has started the stone crusher at Morris' limestone quarries at Salona to work again. About forty men are given employment. The contract will last about four months.

TO BE HELD FOR MURDER

Mrs. Nack and Mr. Thorn in a Very Bad Predicament.

ARE INDICTED BY A GRAND JURY

They are Charged With the Killing of William Guldensuppe and Will Now Have to Prove Their Innocence.

BOTH WILL BE ARRAIGNED TO-DAY

NEW YORK, July 8.—Martin Thorn, alias Torzewski, and Mrs. Augusta Nack were to-day indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree in the killing of William Guldensuppe, the Turkish bath operator, a portion of whose dismembered body was found in the river and a portion in the woods at Harlem. Among the witnesses examined by the grand jury were Mrs. Riger, the woman who sold the oil cloth to Mrs Nack; Joseph Gartha, the barber to whom Thorn confessed the murder, and several others who have heretofore furnished information in connection with the case.

The accused will be arranged in general court sessions to-morrow to plead. Chief of Detectives O'Brien to-night gave out for publication, a lengthy statement alleged to have been made by Thorn shortly after his capture on Monday night. In this statement Thorn made no acknowledgment of the murder, but positively refused to tell of his whereabouts on the day the crime is supposed to have been committed. He tells of the fight he had in February last with Guldensuppe at Mrs. Nack's room on Ninth avenue, when Guldensuppe beat him so badly that he had to go to the hospital, and how Guldensuppe had threatened to beat him again if he caught him. He says that after that he frequently met Mrs. Nack by appointment in different parts of the city, but never went to her house. Mrs. Nack told him Guldensuppe was using her badly and Thorn wanted her to leave Guldensuppe and live with him. She frequently gave him money and spoke of buying him a barber shop. He says they met on Sunday, June 27, and on Tuesday, June 29, and went to the Central Park. In their conversation he told her of the finding of the part of a body of a man and the suspicion that Guldensuppe had been killed. Mrs. Nack, he said, expresed the belief that Guldensuppe was not dead, but that she had not seen him since Friday and did not know where he was. Mrs. Nack told him she had sent to the Murray Hill baths to find out if Guldensuppe had returned. He said that on both of these occasions he parted from Mrs. Nack and slept at Maloney's hotel.

In no part of the statement does he admit any connection of himself or Mrs. Nack with the murder, but as stated above, he refused to tell of his movements on certain important periods.

Murder in Clinton County.

The following from the Lock Haven Express of Thursday, gives the particulars as far as known of a murder committed in that county Thursday:

Word was received in this city this afternoon of a murder having been committed near Hyner, this county. District Attorney Hall was notify by telegram that a girl is supposed to have been murdered near Hyner and he was asked to notify Coroner Hayes at once to make an investigation. Only meagre particulars of the supposed murder could be obtained.

It is said that a young girl was found lying dead along the road not far from Lebo's lumber camp. Lebo's camp is eight miles from Hyner and 22 miles from Lock Haven by the public road.

Later news received over the railroad wire is that the girl was named Crider and her home was at Haneyville. She was only seven years old. There were indications that a fiendish crime had been committed before the girl was killed.

The girl made her home with Isaac Lebo's family at the camp.

Coroner Hayes left on Niagara express this afternoon for Hyner to hold an inquest upon the body.

Fell Off a Cherry Tree.

Master Harold Atwood, the 8 year old son of Origen Atwood met with an accident Thursday about 7 p. m. He fell off a cherry tree on reservoir hill and the elbow joint of his right arm was both dislocated and broken. He was attended by Doctors, Mullen and Hayes.

Words of Caution.

Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, Washington, has made the following statement about the weather and its effects:

The weather map does not show any breaking up of the immense body of hot air overlying the whole region east of the Rocky mountains. The only prospect is the continuation of heat, and the people should prepare accordingly. They should remember that it is not the degree of heat which makes it dangerous, but the continuation of it. Every day's continuation of ninety degree temperature pulls one's vitality one notch lower.

At the expiration of ten days of such heat as the country has been having is when the harvest of death begins. It is extremely rare that such great heat continues beyond fifteen days, and it is seldom that it exceeds ten days in duration.

If it could be impressed upon the people not to exert themselves during the heated season, and to observe extreme temperance in eating and drinking, there would be very few deaths from sunstroke. The less meat consumed, the safer one is, but alcoholic beverages should be abjured by all means.

My recollection is that hospital records where statistics have been carefully preserved, show that over ninety per cent, of those overcome by heat are people addicted to intemperance, especially in the matter of drink.

Bullet-Proof Cloth on a Man.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The bullet-proof cloth invented by Casimir Zeglen, a monk, was put on a dog yesterday. Two bullets of 44 calibre were fired at him at a distance of ten feet, from a long barreled revolver. The first shot struck him exactly in a place to break his backbone. He wagged his tail. At the second shot the dog yelped once, but was uninjured.

The living human target will be shot at in the dissecting room of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery in two weeks. He is a resident in the vicinity of Stanislasus church, to which Brother Zeglen is attached.

Were Persuaded To Die.

PARIS, July 8.—A great sensation has been caused by the discovery that four dressmakers have committed suicide by inhaling charcoal fumes in a flat belonging to the well-to-do Mme. Marechal. Mme. Marechal has long suffered from melancholia because of the insanity of her husband, and it is supposed that she instigated the act and persuaded the others, who were either deserted by their husbands or their lovers. The four met in the evening, partook of a sumptuous dinner with wine, sang and smoked until late, and concluded life with the statement in writing signed by all: "We die deliberately and without any regrets."

A Terrible Storm.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 8.—A gang of workmen while driving to their homes in Midvalley and Natalie last night were overtaken by the heaviest electrical storm ever known in this section and one of their number, Daniel Rhoades, aged 70 years, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning. One of the horses was also killed outright. The remaining workmen and horses were shocked. Trees were uprooted and one of the wagons belonging to the workmen was demolished.

Grape and Bark Bitters for Malaria.

Every body knows the value of the grape as a luscious and healthy fruit. Aunt Rachael's Malarial Bitters is the ultimate of the Grape Juice: in its properties, mildly diuretic, sudorific and tonic. More than seven-eighths is the pure juice of the grape, simply made bitter by Peruvian Bark, Camomile Flowers, Snake Root &c., and will cure Malaria Fever if used as directed.

Where Spain Kicks Out.

MADRID, July 8.—The La Voz De Guipuzcoa, of Saint Sebastian, reproduces the text of Japan's protest to the United States against the annexation of Hawaii, and urges the population to give an enthusiastic farewell to the Japanese ambassador in order to "demonstrate Spanish sympathy with a people which will not tolerate humiliations and is able to cope in pride with the Yankees who are the eternal enemies of Spain."

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called Grain-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. the more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and tastes like choice coffee but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

A DAY FOR PLEASURE.

Arrangements Outlined for the Business Men's Picnic.

TO BE HELD AT HECLA AUGUST 12

A Meeting of the Executive Committee Was Held in Lock Haven Wednesday Night.

CONTESTS AND FIREWORKS

The executive committee, to outline the events for the Business Men's picnic, to be held at Hecla Park Thursday, August 12, met Wednesday evening at the Fallon House. Those in attendance were: P. P. Rittman, Lock Haven, chairman; Colonel Shortlidge and T. A. Shoemaker, of Bellefonte; A. C. Mann, of Mill Hall, and S. Z. Martin, of Lock Haven. Mr. Warfield, manager of the C. R. R. of Pa., G. W. Fredericks, of Flemington, and W. F. Elliott, of Lock Haven, members of the general committee, were also present.

EVENTS OF THE DAY.

It was decided that every hour of the day shall be occupied with some attraction. For the morning it was deemed best that the addresses, tub, swimming and foot races shall take place. The noon hour will be reserved for dinner. The afternoon will be taken up with bicycle races, base ball and trap shooting, and the evening with a display of fireworks.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

The following sub-committees were appointed:

On speakers—General Superintendent Gephart.

On tub, swimming and foot races—William Conley, of Bellefonte, and W. F. Elliott, of Lock Haven.

On cycle races—John S. Walker, of Bellefonte; L. H. Anthony and L. K. Poust, of Lock Haven.

On base ball—J. C. Schanck and George A. Brown, of Lock Haven; and Mitchell Cunningham of Bellefonte.

On trap shooting—J. B. Lesher, of Lock Haven; and G. R. Meek, of Bellefonte.

On fireworks—Mr. Warfield of Bellefonte.

On printing—G. W. Mason and Torrence Shearer, of Lock Haven.

On music—W. O. Bentley and Prof. Ingalsbe, of Lock Haven; the leader of the Undine band, Bellefonte and H. W. Noll, of Pleasant Gap.

Committee to solicit the closing of business houses on the day of the picnic—J. D. Sourbeck and S. Speiglemeyer, of Bellefonte; George Loder and T. R. Mann, of Lock Haven.

General Advisory Committee—Mayors of Lock Haven and Bellefonte.

PRIZES.

The following prizes will be awarded:

Tub race—First prize, $3; second, $2; third, $1.

Foot race, best two out of three, ½ mile races—First prize, $10; second, $5; third, $2.

Swimming race, 200 yards, open to boys under 15 years—First prize, $3; second, $2; third, $1.

Bicycle races, professional contestants—First prize, $25; second, $15.

Amateur wheelmen—First prize, $10; second, $5.

Colored wheelmen—First prize, $5; second, $3; third, $2.

Trap shooting—To be participated in by eight sportsmen, four from Centre county and four from Clinton county, 80 live birds, each man to shoot at 10 birds. No prizes.

The executive committee, as the invitation committee, will invite all business men in neighboring towns to attend the picnic.

All sub-committees will meet at the Fallon House, Lock Haven, next Tuesday.

Ohio Gold Democrats' Plans.

COLUMBUS, O., July 8.—At the meeting of the State Executive committee of the National Democrats, the State Central committee was instructed to call a convention some time in September for the purpose of placing an independent State ticket in the field. It was also decided to ask the county organizations of the party to place independent legislative tickets in the field. At the State convention a candidate for United States Senator will be indorsed.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

What Bradstreet and Dun & Co. Have to Say Regarding It.

THE SETTLEMENT OF THE TARIFF

It Has Strengthened a Widespread Feeling of Hopefulness That the Autumn May Bring General Revival in Trade.

FAILURES DURING THE PAST WEEK

NEW YORK, July 9.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say: There is only a moderate volume of trade throughout the country, the more noteworthy changes being a checked demand west and northwest, due to the excessive heat and to storms, continued favorable reports as to the cereal and other crop prospects and disturbance in industrial lines due to the strike of about 120,000 bituminous coal miners. The reluctance of West Virginia operatives to join in the strike complicates the situation.

The prospect of an early settlement to the tariff has strengthened the wide spread feeling of hopefulness that the autumn will bring a revival of consumptive demand. Orders for clothing, shoes and hardware for fall delivery are already more frequent at Baltimore, Chicago and Omaha. There is no improvement in demand for cotton or woolen goods, but the latter are higher, based on the cost of wool.

Prices show an increase of one-fifth of one per cent. during June, and mark the begining of a turn in the outward flow of the tide of prices which continued from January 1 to June 1.

Exports of wheat (flour included as wheat) from both coasts of the United States and from Montreal this week amount to 2,502,606 bushels, compared with 2,778,000 bushels last week and 2,167,000 bushels in the week a year ago.

There are 215 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, compared with 225 last week and 219 in the week a year ago and 266 two years ago.

FROM DUN & CO.

NEW YORK, July 9.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

The strike of the bituminous coal miners has taken 75,000 men or more from work and threatens to restrict supplies of fuel in some quarters, though the West Virginia and some others mines which declined to take part claim to be able to meet the eastern demand for some months. At the west the strike is by no means unitedly sustained and the impression prevails that it will not last long. The tin plate works have settled the wage question and are again busy and show a production of 4,500,000 boxes yearly, with a capacity of 6,250,000 boxes. The bar mills have more trouble, but a general settlement of iron and steel wages is expected without much delay. New orders are small since the annual vacation began, but yet are large enough, the season considered, to afford some encouragement. The cotton mills have a steady and increasing demand. The woolen mills are getting decidedly more orders for fall wants and beginning hopefully on spring goods, but are cautious in contracts for future delivery. There is a better demand for domestic wool in expectation of higher prices.

The disposition of farmers to hold their wheat for higher figures is strengthened by many foreign reports. It seems to be the fact that crops in other countries are less promising than usual.

Failures for the week have been 206 in the United States against 215 last year.

Murder Near St. Mary's.

A Hungarian, jealous of two of his fellow countrymen, killed one and fatally injured the other Sunday, near St. Mary's. The weapon used by the murderer was a club, and after he had induced his victims to drink until they were in a drunken stupor, he clubbed them over the head. The head of the man killed was pounded into jelly and after pounding the second man over the head he cut his throat with a knife, but the knife was so dull it did not sever the jugular vein. The wounded man was taken to the Kane hospital but he cannot live. The murderer escaped.

New President of the Altoona Bank.

H. C. Dern, editor of the Altoona Tribune, has been elected president of the Altoona bank, in place of E. B. Isett, of Spruce Creek, who declined re-election. We congratulate our good friend Mr. Dern upon his election, and the stockholders are also to be congratulated in choosing as capable, straightforward, honorable gentleman as Mr. Dern to preside over the institution.

The Tribune says: At the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Altoona bank, held yesterday, Mr. E. B. Isett, of Spruce Creek, resigned the office of president in pursuance of a purpose formed several years ago.

It has been Mr. Isett's earnest desire that in the event of his being spared to complete his twenty-fifth year as president he would be allowed to resign that office in favor of some one residing in Altoona, and who would therefore be more conveniently located and better able to give that constant attention to the affairs of the bank and the office of president requires. Mr. Isett also, because of increasing years, irregular health, the distance of his residence from the bank, and for other reasons satisfactory to his associates, requested permission to sever his connection with the institution. And while the stockholders regretted every step that was taken in the direction indicated, they could only admit the force of Mr. Isett's reasoning and concede that his years of service and his constant and unswerving devotion to the interests of the bank had earned him all and more than he asked.

In accordance with their articles of association the remaining stockholders purchased Mr. Isett's interest in the bank after accepting his resignation as president. Mr. H. C. Dern was unanimously chosen president and Mr. J. G. Davis was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Isett.

When Patti was Spanked.

The late Max Maretzek used to tell the following anecdote of Adelina Patti: "I remember once at the Howard Athenaeum, Boston, Mme. Barili Patti, the mother of the Patti sisters, sang the part of Norma, with Amalia Patti as Adelgisa and Adelina, then a little child, as one of the children of Norma. Adelina, always willful, insisted at rehearsal in singing the music of her mother and sister in the duo 'Mira Norma,' and when, after several warnings, she would still continue to sing, her irascible mother took her up and gave her a regular spanking before the eyes of the assembled orchestra and members of the company.

"Now Adelina Patti gets $4,000 a night for singing instead of a spanking—almost as great a change of conditions as in the case of Eliza Hensler. Adelina Patti made her first appearance in public under my direction in a concert at Tripler hall in February, 1852. She was then a child of 9 years, and at that early age not only gave evidence of her precocity in vocalizing, but also in making bargains. The conditions on which she agreed to sing there were a hatful of candies, and she insisted on receiving them before she went out to appear before the public."

Will Get Back Pay.

Governor Hastings has approved and signed an act authorizing and empowering and directing the County Commissioners of the several counties of the Commonwealth to pay to the Constables of their respective counties, for the services rendered by such Constables in making returns to court of elections, attending special, borough, township or ward elections, and traveling expenses incidental thereto, since the 1st of January, 1896, in all cases where the same remain unpaid. This is in accord with the act of April 2, 1868, which provides: For making returns to court $1.50, attending special, township or ward elections $3, and for traveling expenses or mileage in all cases for each mile, circular, 6 cents.

Nearly Killed by Bees.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 9.—James Patterson, a letter carrier, had a terrible experience with wild bees on Monday. He had discovered a bee tree, and, getting leave of absence and putting on a sub, made all preparations to gather the honey. He lives on College Hill, and it was not until this morning that he appeared at the office. While he was cutting the tree down the bees attacked him and stung him so severely that he has been in bed ever since, under the doctor's care. If companions had not driven off the bees it is said they would have stung him to death. His face and body are yet greatly swollen.

Daring Leap for Liberty.

FINLEYVILLE, Pa., July 9.—On Tuesday George Murray is alleged to have assulted W. H. Curry, proprietor of a drug store at Gastonville, striking him with a black jack. When Murray started to run away Curry, is said to have secured a revolver and fired four shots, which did not hit. Murray was arrested and committed to the country jail yesterday. On the train he threw himself out of the car window, ran up Thomas hill and make good his escape. He has not been captured yet.

WHEN ROYALTY TRAVELS.

It is Necessary that whenever Grand Duke Paul Goes, His Bed Goes too.

Few royal folks when traveling require their bedsteads and bedroom furniture to form a portion of their luggage, as the Queen does, for instance. But great many ladies there are who carry their own beds and bed linen, blankets and quilts, and always a mackintosh sheet to spread over the mattress to guard against dampness for lack of sufficient airing in transit from place to place. The Grand Duke Paul of Russia, it is true, is always when traveling accompanied by a bedstead which he has had built in sections, and which is put up by a special mechanic under the superintendence of the royal valet wherever the Grand Duke goes, but then it is simply because he can seldom, owing to his great height, meet with one long enough for his comfort.

It does not appear to be generally known that among the servants of the Queen are two bearing the title of Her Majesty's Tapissiers. One of them follows the Court wherever it may be, and the other remains permanently at Windsor. The duty of these functionaries is to superintend the packing of the Queen's baggage when the Court migrates, and their work is so perfectly organized that every member of the establishment concerned knows almost to a minute when he or she must be ready to receive a visit from the packer.—London Figaro.

THE GOAT WAS A POLITICIAN.

But Falling Into Machine Ways Got Him Into Trouble.

John Combs, treasurer of Jamestown, Ottawa county, decided some time ago that the safest way to keep the township cash was to place it in an iron pot and put it under his house. He thus stowed away $400 in bills and $100 in silver.

The house was a frame structure, with no walls surrounding the wooden supports, and the family goat crawled under and ate the township's entire stock of greenbacks. One of the children who saw him nibbling at a silver dollar in the back yard gave the alarm.

Acting under the advice of his bondsmen, Combs reluctantly killed the goat and dissected it. The entire $400 was found, but badly mutilated.

The bills were sent to Washington for redemption, and the department succeeded in identifying about $130. The bondsmen had to put up for the rest.—Cor. Buffalo Inquirer.

In the Good Old Days.

In the year 1792 visiting was often managed by sending round an empty chair attended by footmen—that is to say, the chairmen carried the chair, and behind it walked two footmen, who carried the cards, and, with grave faces, asked at each door whether Lady A. was at home. She never was at home. Again—but only if one was a very great lady—it was common to invite one's friends to a rout, and, when the street was blocked with the coaches and the rooms with the company assembled, the hostess would call her own coach and go off to somebody else's rout. There were ladies, too, but not great ladies, who gave frequent card-parties, and found their hospitality profitable on account of the "card-money." At that time every player was supposed to slip something under a candlestick. When the company departed the servants collected the money for themselves. In the case of one prudent housewife, she lifted the candlesticks herself and kept the coin.

Matches Made of Paper.

Matches made of paper is one of the latest inventions. The time-honored plan of rolling paper into a spill and using it for lighting purposes, has been utilized by an inventor in the manufacture of matches, and promises to revolutionize the European trade. The paper is immersed in wax, stearine, and similar substances, and burns with a bright, smokeless and odorless flame. Cut into match lengths, it is dipped in a phosphorous composition like the common wax match. The invention is regarded as a timely one, as the wood used in the making of matches is constantly growing more scarce and costly.

A Test of Prominence.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Corntossel, "I'm afraid our Congressman ain't making the impression at Washington that we expected."

"Why, he made some fine speeches."

"I know that. But I don't see the newspapers goin' inter no conniptions about the kind o' clothes he wears."—Washington Star.

No Press Agent Needed.

Jackson—Did it ever occur to you that two of Edison's greatest inventions do not have to be praised?

Johnson—No. How's that?

Jackson—Well, the kinetoscope illustrates its own merits.

Johnson—Yes.

Jackson—And the phonograph speaks for itself.—New York Journal.

What is Really Needed.

"Somebody has invented another talking machine."

"That's a stupid thing to do. Won't these scientists ever learn that what the world needs is listening machines?"—Chicago Record.

The Golden Star Gold Mining Co., OF MONTANA.

Owning 3 great and rich gold mines offers a small portion of its shares to the investing public at a very low price. The capitalization is very small. Several thousands of dollars have already been expended and over 600 feet of underground work is done on the property, which is rich in gold, copper and some silver. These shares now obtainable at a very low price are the best investment on the financial market to-day and ought to pay at least 10c per share per month dividends in the near future. For reports and prospectus sample of the ore, etc., please address

—Did you attend church Sunday?

—A cool wave is heading this way hurry it along.

—Despite the old proverb about making hay while the sun shines, most people would prefer to make lemonade.

—The St John's Episcopal Sunday School will hold a basket picnic at Hunters Park on or about the 27th of July.

—Do you want a Permanent Position with Good Pay? If so, write to the Hawks Nursery Co., Rochester, N. Y. A 13–m

—Quite a jolly crowd were at the cave on Sunday. It consisted of Misses Minnie Benham and Helen Malin, Messrs. Fred. Pickle and Simon Katz. They say the cave was never in better condition than now, and is visited by many every week.

An unfailing specfic for cholera morbus, cholerainfantum, diarrhoea and all those other dangerous diseases incident to the summer season, is found in Dr. Fowler's Ext of Wild Strawbeery.

—Four out of five of the victims of "prostration" are the men who think they must brace up against a hot wave by frequent interviews with old John Barleycorn.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Hives are not dangerous to life, but they are a prolific breeder of misery and profanity. Doan's Ointment gives instant relief, even in the worst cases of this and other exasperating diseases of the skin.

—A young man named Jefferson Tressler, while building a load of hay, on the Rock View farm of W. F. Reynolds fell breaking his left arm. The accident happened about 9 o'clock on Friday. Mr. Tressler was brought to Bellefonte and the arm was set by Dr. R. G. Hayes.

—Thursday a party of eight went over to the Cave. The party consisted of Misses Nola McKenna, of Fairmont, Va. Maud Benedic, of Lay Master, Pa. Lorene Mattern, of Milesburg. Elsie Weaver of Bellefonte, and Messrs. Harry Walker, Will McCalmont, Roy McCalmont and Chas. Mench, all of Bellefonte. We hope the young people will enjoy themselves and have a royal good time.

—We are sorry to say that we are to lose our kind, good natured friend and chum, Allen Rumberger; and then we are glad to mention that he, through a good friend, has secured an excellent position with the large wholesale shoe firm of Kern, Lauderbach & Co. in Philadelphia. Mr. Rumberger left for the city on Monday morning. We wish Allen every success that can be had.

—The Methodists of Bellefonte will hold their annual picnic at Hecla Park this Thursday, July 15th. On the same day all the Methodists in Clinton county will picnic at the same place. This will assure a big attendance. Lay your plans early, pack your hampers and take a day off at beautiful Hecla, and you will return feeling refreshed, better satisfied with yourself, and the world at large.

—Thursday at the Brockerhoff House a very pretty musical was held. The persons who took part were Miss Matilda Benham daughter of Col. Benham, Miss Edith Holtz, Miss Emma Oppenheimer, Mrs. Samuel Lewin, Mrs. Emil Joseph. Messrs. Fred H. Pickel of Philadelphia and Leon Bailey, of Philadelphia. The musical was a grand success in every particular among those who deserve special mentioning are Miss Benham, who s one of the finest elocutionist that has been in Bellefonte for a long time; and Miss Emma Oppenheimer who has a sweet and well cultivated voice; and Mr. Fred Pickel who has a beautiful baratone voice.

—The Royal Arcanum held their first meeting in the new Eagle hall Monday evening, July 12, with a large attendance. After the usual routine business and the initiation of five new members, refreshments were served by B. C. Achenbach, assisted by Ed. Garman and Grant Hoover, committee on refreshments. The members were all highly pleased with their new place of meeting and a royal good time was had by everybody. After all had become thoroughly satisfied with ice cream, cake and other like delicacies, Cruse's best cigars were served.

What's the Trouble!

Y. M. C. A. Boys at Lemont.

The young men of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. held two very interesting meetings in the churches at Lemont, Sunday evening; one in the Evangelical, expressly for the men of that vicinity, led by Messrs. F. H. Cota and Emanuel Markle, the other in the Presbyterian church, for the benefit of the ladies, led by Messrs. Harris Heylman and Samuel Taylor. The meetings proved to be quite a success, everyone seeming to be much pleased and benefitted by the talks that were delivered by the young men.

Two very pretty quartettes were sung by some of Lemont's good Christian workers.

An elegant supper was served the visitors just prior to the opening of the meetings, at the home of Calvin Bathgate, to whom the boys owe their thanks.

A Large Snake Killed Within the Borough Limits.

On Friday while Charles Eckenroth and Stewart Lyons were taking a walk in front of the latter's property on Curtin street, Mr. Eckenroth discovered a large black snake lying stretched along the top rail of the fence. He hastily called a man who was working in Harry Valentine's garden, and the two together soon dispatched the snake. It measured four feet in length; and that's no joke, either.

Smashed His Foot.

John Miller an employe in the casting room at Valentines furnace met with an accident Saturday night that will lay him up for some time to come. He was helping to move one of the heavy buggies loaded with pig iron when one of the heavy bars of iron fell on his foot smashing several of his toes.

Most Mothers Know It.

Babies are always suffering from flatulency, wind-colic and griping, which, by distending their little bowels, make them draw up their tiny legs and cry for pain. To relieve the infant of this discomfort, expel the wind, soothe his little bowels and induce refreshing slumber, give Dr. John W. Bull's Baby Syrup, a most efficacious, yet harmless medicine for all baby disorders. "I have used Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup for eight years. It has given perfect satisfaction every time. I would not be without it in the house. It is the best remedy in the market for babies. Mrs. Barney Truckey, Bay City, Mich." Dr. John W. Bull's Baby Syrup costs 25 cents at all dealers. Remember, ask for Dr. John W. Bull's Baby Syrup.
